BANGLADESH COURT HANDS SIX-MONTH JAIL TERM TO EX-PM SHEIKH HASINA

The International Crimes Tribunal, where Hasina is facing trial on charges of crimes against humanity, on Monday sentenced her in a contempt case

FIRST SENTENCE SINCE HER EXILE IN AUG 2024

It marks the first time that 77-year-old Hasina has been sentenced in any case since she fled to India following a student-led uprising in August last year. The sentence, delivered in her absence, will come into effect from the day of her arrest or surrender before the court, chief prosecutor Mohammad Tajul Islam told reporters after the verdict was handed down

VERDICT BASED ON LEAKED AUDIO CLIP

- Hasina's trial was opened on Monday over the murder of student protester Abu Sayeed, whose killing in Rangpur University escalated to a nationwide violent protest that eventually ousted her
- The verdict came over a leaked audio clip in which Hasina is allegedly heard telling a party leader that she has "licence to kill" people

Institution of Dalai Lama will go on

China fumes as incumbent says the Gaden Phodrang Trust alone has the authority to recognise his reincarnation

HARPREET BAJWA & JAYANTH JACOB @ Chandigarh/New Delhi

IN a landmark announcement just days ahead of his 90th birthday, the 14th Dalai Lama on Wednesday formally announced that the centuries-old institution of the Dalai Lama will continue after his death, ending years of speculation over the future of Tibetan Buddhism's highest spiritual seat.

The decision, however, drew sharp criticism from China, which insists it holds authority over any future reincarnation.

"I am affirming that the institution of the Dalai Lama will continue," the exiled Tibetan leader declared in a statement posted on social media and his official website. He emphasised that only his personal institution, the Gaden Phodrang Trust, has the authority to identify and recognise his reincarnation, warning that no outside entity, including governments, has any right to interfere in the sacred process.

"I hereby reiterate that the Gaden Phodrang Trust has sole authority to recognise the future reincarnation; no one else has any such authority to interfere in this matter."

The Chinese government condemned the announcement, reiterating its long-standing claim to control the selection of Tibetan spiritual leaders, a stance that triggered international criticism for politicising religion. "The reincarnation of the Dalai Lama, the Panchen Lama, and other great Buddhist figures must be chosen by drawing lots from a golden urn and approved by the central government," Chinese foreign ministry spokeswoman Mao Ning said in Beijing. She cited a Qing dynasty-era method to justify Beijing's authority over reincarnations.

Mao said China permits religious freedom but within limits defined by the state. "The survival and development of any religion lies in adapting to the country's social environment and cultural traditions," she said, defending China's efforts to align religious practices with its governance model.

Beijing views the Dalai Lama as a separatist and continues to reject his spiritual and political influence, especially in regions like Tibet and parts of the Himalayan belt where devotion to him is deep-rooted.

In contrast to China's rebuke, the Dalai Lama's reaffirmation was welcomed by Tibetan groups and Buddhist communities across Asia. The spiritual leader revealed that his decision following 14 years of consistent appeals from religious leaders, civil organisations, and Tibetan communities inside and outside Tibet.

"Leaders of Tibet's spiritual traditions, members of the Tibetan Parliament in Exile, participants in a Special General Body Meeting, members of the Central Tibetan Administration, NGOs, Buddhists from the Himalayan region, Mongolia, Buddhists of the Russian Federation, and Buddhists in Asia including mainland China, have written to me... earnestly requesting that the institution of the Dalai Lama continue," he said.

Importantly, the Dalai Lama noted that Tibetans inside China — despite state surveillance — had conveyed their support through informal channels.

The Dalai Lama had first broached the question of his succession in 1969, stating that the future of his lineage should be decided by the Tibetan people. In 2011, he promised to revisit the issue around his 90th birthday. With this week's statement, that moment has come — and brought clarity.

The Gaden Phodrang Trust will oversee the reincarnation search process, in consultation with the heads of the Tibetan Buddhist traditions and spiritual protectors linked to the Dalai Lama's lineage.

Quad raps Pahalgam terrorist attack, but does not name Pak

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE foreign ministers of the Quad countries, India, the United States, Japan, and Australia, strongly condemned the April 22 terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir's Pahalgam, which killed 25 Indians and one Nepali citizen.

In a joint statement issued after their meeting in Washington, the ministers called for the "perpetrators, organisers, and financiers of this reprehensible act to be brought to justice without any delay."

While the statement urged all UN member states to cooperate under international law with efforts to investigate and prosecute those responsible, it notably stopped short of naming Pakistan, which India holds responsible for cross-border terrorism, including the Pahalgam attack.

From India's perspective, the explicit mention of the Pahalgam attack is significant. "We unequivocally condemn all acts of terrorism and violent extremism in all their forms, including cross-border terrorism," the statement read. Cross-border terror for India denotes the terrorism directed against it from Pakistan.

Beyond terrorism, the joint statement highlighted concerns over security challenges in the Indo-Pacific region. While avoiding direct reference to China, the ministers condemned the "dangerous and provocative actions" in the South and East China Seas.

The ministers also announced the launch of the Quad Critical Minerals Initiative, plans for the first Quad Indo-Pacific Logistics Network field training exercise, and the Quad Ports of the Future Partnership, which is slated to be inaugurated in Mumbai later this year.

Cop, whom CM tried to slap, resigns

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR & MALLIKARJUN HIREMATH @ Belagavi

IN a major embarrassment to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Additional Superintendent of Police in Dharwad Narayan Barmani has tendered his resignation, citing deep anguish over a public insult he suffered at the hands of the chief minister at a political event in Belagavi two months ago.

In a letter dated June 12, addressed to the additional chief secretary to the Home Department at Vidhana Soudha, Bengaluru, Barmani sought voluntary retirement from service. He stated, "Having been publicly insulted and humiliated by the chief minister for a mistake I did not commit, I am left with no other option but to voluntarily resign from my service. I request you to kindly accept my resignation."

Narayan Barmani

The three-page letter details the emotional toll the incident has taken on him and the demoralising effect it has had on the entire police force. Barmani stated that the chief minister's "rude and humiliating" behaviour while he was in uniform was a blow not just to him personally, but to the dignity of the police service as a whole. Siddu asserts he'll be CM for 5 years, DKS says he has no option

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Nandi Hills / Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday asserted that his government will be in power solidly as a rock and he will remain as chief minister for the full five-year term. Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who is expected to take charge from Siddaramaiah once the Congress government reaches half of its term in November, said he has no option but to support the chief minister because of the decision of the party high command.

"Yes, I will only be CM (for five years). Why do you people (media) suspect it? Is BJP or JDS our high command? Just because BJP leaders said can you write like that (that CM will be changed)? Should you not verify and write what I say," he told media persons, who asked him if he will be chief minister for full five years.

On the chief minister's assertion, Shivakumar said, "What options do I have? I have to stand by him and support him. I have no objection to him. We will fulfill whatever the party high command tells."

After the cabinet meeting at Nandi Hills on Wednesday, Shivakumar addressed a joint press conference with Siddaramaiah. Just before leaving Nandi Hills, too, he told reporters that he will abide by the party high command's decision.

"I have to go by my party, my party is important, my leadership is important. Our aim is to bring back the party to power in 2028," he said. P4

SBI flags Anil Ambani-led RCom loan as fraud

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

The country's largest bank, State Bank of India, has classified the loan account of beleaguered Reliance Communications (RCom), under bankruptcy since June 2019, as a 'fraud' account, and reported the name of its erstwhile promoter and director Anil Ambani to the Reserve Bank of India.

According to SBI, RCom used ₹12,692.31 crore, 41% of the total loan, to pay connected parties through a web of intergroup transactions. The company owed ₹31,580 crore to banks, SBI said in its letter.

In an exchange filing on Wednesday, RCom confirmed receipt of the letter from SBI, dated June 23. The firm asserted its right to seek remedial and legal measures, arguing that the bank did not properly hear its case as required by the Supreme Court and did not follow RBI norms on classifying a loan account as fraud. In a March 28, 2023 order, the SC directed banks to provide borrowers with a personal hearing before classifying their loan accounts as fraudulent, citing the principles of natural justice.

The court noted that classifying a loan account as fraud has severe implications for borrowers, including potential criminal proceedings and restrictions on future borrowing. Following this, RBI issued revised guidelines to banks incorporating this ruling into its February 2016 guidelines.

After SBI's move, other banks with exposure to RCom are expected to follow suit.

"We have taken cognizance of the responses to our show-cause notice and... concluded that sufficient reasons have not been provided by the respondent to explain the non-adherence to the agreed terms and conditions of the loan documents," SBI said in its June 25 letter, which RCom disclosed to exchanges on Wednesday.

DON FOR 500% TARIFFS ON RUSSIA'S PARTNERS

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

IN a development that could possibly reshape US foreign trade policy and geopolitical alliances, President Donald Trump has backed a Senate bill proposing a sweeping 500% tariff on countries keeping economic ties with Russia.

The legislation, known as the Sanctioning Russia Act, aims to economically isolate Moscow by penalising third-party nations, including India and China, which continue to import vast quantities of Russian oil.

Donald Trump

Republican Senator Lindsey Graham, who introduced the bill earlier this year, confirmed Trump's support during an interview on ABC News. "If you're buying products from Russia and you're not helping Ukraine, then there's a 500 percent tariff on your products coming into the United States," Graham said. "India and China buy 70% of Putin's oil. They keep his war machine going."

If enacted into law, the proposed tariffs would directly hit India and China, the largest buyers of Russian crude.

Offences related to religion go up by 65% in 4 yrs

RAKSHITH GOWDA @Bengaluru

OFFENCES related to religion have witnessed a significant increase in the state, rising by 64.87% from 208 cases in 2021 to 345 cases in 2024.

As per data available with State Crime Records Bureau, until May this year, a total of 123 such cases were reported across the state. Cases of communal and religious riots also saw a 133.31% increase, rising from 9 in 2021 to 21 in 2024.

Experts say that misinformation on social media, a politically polarised environment, and long-standing religious or caste-based tensions in certain districts have contributed to the rise in such incidents. Government initiatives like the formation of an anti-communal wing or a special action force are yet to make any impact.

Offences related to religion are being booked under various sections and are further categorised into caste-based, communal, linguistic, regional, religious, and other issues.

Speaking to TNIE, a serving police commissioner in the state reiterated that misinformation on social media, political polarisation, and historical religious or caste tensions are key contributors. "The police have failed to take preventive actions, such as arresting the accused or invoking the Goonda Act against troublemakers," the commissioner said. P5

BIKE TAXI AGGREGATORS PIN HOPE ON NEW GUIDELINES BY CENTRE TO RESUME SERVICES

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy declines to comment on the development

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WILL the bike taxi ban be revoked in Karnataka, has become a million dollar question now, especially after the Union government's guidelines permitting aggregation of non-transport motorcycles for passenger journey.

Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH) on July 1 released its Motor Vehicle Aggregator Guidelines (MVAG) 2025 which permits the aggregation of non-transport (personal) motorcycles for passenger journey. Bike taxi aggregators are pinning their hopes on the recent guidelines, hoping that this will convince the state government to revoke the ban on bike taxis. Bike taxis were banned in the state, as the transport department did not frame a policy, permitting personal vehicles (white board registration vehicles) to be used for commercial purposes (to carry passengers).

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy declined to comment on the development.

An Uber spokesperson welcomed the MVAG 2025, terming it forward-looking step toward fostering innovation and regulatory clarity in India's digital mobility sector. He said that Uber remains committed to working closely with governments at all levels to support effective and inclusive rollout of the framework.

"This move, rooted in the State's powers under Section 67(3) of the Motor Vehicles Act, is a milestone in India's journey toward a Viksit Bharat — a developed, self-reliant, and inclusive India. By recognising non-transport motorcycles as a means of shared mobility, the government has opened the door to more affordable transportation options for millions, especially in underserved and hyperlocal areas," a Rapido spokesperson said.

"We see this policy shift as a catalyst for creating lakhs of flexible livelihood opportunities for riders across urban and rural India, promoting shared and low-emission transport in line with India's climate commitments and formalising the gig economy with technology-backed platforms and regulatory support," he said.

"We are committed to supporting the various state governments in operationalising this initiative in line with all stipulated guidelines. We will ensure responsible onboarding of riders, compliance with safety and insurance norms, and timely contributions as part of the proposed authorisation framework, the Rapido spokesperson added.

Woman commuter to HC: Bike taxis safer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A woman commuter on Wednesday informed the Karnataka High Court that bike taxis are safer, more affordable and convenient for women, in comparison with other modes of public transport, including buses and cabs.

This point, which is contrary to the state government's contention that bike taxis are unsafe for women, was made before the division bench of acting Chief Justice V Kameswar Rao and Justice CM Joshi during a hearing of appeals by the Bike Taxis Welfare Association, along with Ola, Uber, and Rapido, and owners of two-wheelers, against the order passed by a single judge on April 2.

Senior advocate Jayna Kothari, representing Vishali Sri Lakshmi, another advocate, drew the court's attention to bike taxis in eight states, where guidelines have been laid down for passenger safety. Background checks, police verification, and a bar on those with criminal cases were among the conditions imposed on riders for operating bike taxis.

It would be more convenient for women commuters if the bike taxi driver is a woman. Some states have given special preference to women bike taxi operators, she said. While replying to a query of the court on the safety of women bike taxi drivers, when they have to carry male passengers, she submitted that the schemes allow a woman rider to carry only women passengers, and women commuters to opt for bike taxis driven by women. Even if bike taxis are driven by men, it would be safe for women than travelling in public buses and cabs, she argued.

Senior advocate Uday Holla, representing Roppen Transportation Services, which operates Rapido, submitted that bike taxis were being used for last-mile connectivity in Bengaluru. The 2019 report, which was the basis for the state government's policy to ban bike taxis, was submitted by the erstwhile chairman of the BMRCL, he argued, adding that the ban was a result of the demand made by an association of autorickshaw drivers.

Inform residents to paste stickers, census team told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH some residents raising concern about caste census enumerators of BBMP pasting stickers without interacting with them, and some alleging they have been left out, BBMP has clarified that the purpose of the survey is to ensure no SC population in the city is missed out. Enumerators have been told to interact with house members and only then paste stickers.

In areas like Attigupe and Chandra Layout, where the student population is high, some enumerators ask students irrelevant questions about their marital status, job details and educational qualifications.

"Survey teams have been clearly instructed not to paste stickers unless they interact with someone from the household. However, we acknowledge there may have been a few instances where this was not followed. Of lakhs of houses surveyed, a few might have been missed by enumerators," BBMP clarified.

In order to avoid controversy over SC households being missed out or stickers being pasted without interaction with the household, BBMP appealed to residents to reach out through a helpline at 9481359000, and it will arrange for a visit to complete the survey. BBMP stated that any SC household that has not yet been covered can also participate by filling a self-declaration form online. Simply scan the QR code on the sticker to access the link.

BBMP officials said the sticker only indicates that a household was reached out to by the survey team. It does not imply completion of the survey, unless there was direct interaction, and asked residents to use the helpline or online portal to ensure they are counted.

8 political parties get ECI notice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) has decided to remove eight political parties, which are not actively functioning in the Bengaluru Urban district, from the registration list. The inquiry in this regard will be held on July 18, at the office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Karnataka, said Deputy Commissioner Jagadeesh G, who is also the Additional District Electoral Officer, Bengaluru Urban.

According to a statement, the ECI issued a show-cause notice to Namma Congress, Praja Raitha Rajya Paksha, Kalyan Kranti Party, Bharatiya Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Janata Party, Rakshak Sene, Mahila Pradhan Paksha, Ambedkar Janata Party, and Karnataka Praja Vikas Party, which are registered political parties under Section 29(A) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951. As these parties are not active and their addresses cannot be traced, on the grounds that they have not contested any Lok Sabha, Assembly, or by-elections for the last six years, it is decided to remove them from the list.

Before that, however, an opportunity has been given to these political parties to record their statements, and the party leaders, presidents, and general secretaries must be present for the hearing on July 18, 2025, along with the certificate of the party president and general secretaries, other documents, and the petition. If no written petition is received from the party within the stipulated time, it will be considered that there is no statement from the party and further decision will be taken by the ECI without consulting the party, the ADEO stated.

Govt reverses notification giving permit exemptions to green vehicles

BENGALURU: The state transport department has withdrawn the notification that granted 'permit' exemption for green vehicles -- electric vehicles and those using bio-fuels -- in Karnataka. Permits are mandatory for commercial vehicles. In line with the Union Ministry of Road Transport and Highways guidelines of 2018, the state transport department in 2022 chose to grant permit exemptions to EVs and those running on methanol and ethanol. This move was mainly to encourage migration towards EVs, and those running on bio-fuels were exempted from taking permits in 2022. Sources said the move is just to keep a tab on the total permits. Now, all new vehicles that will be registered, along with the old ones from the above categories, which were earlier exempted from permits, will be given permits, without any fee, as per sources. In the notification dated July 1, the department has withdrawn the 2022 notification. It said those vehicles that were registered from 2022 till July 1 would be issued permits without any charges and the new vehicles that will be registered would also be given permits without collecting any charges.

Vidyadhan scholarships aim to reach 1 lakh students by 2029

BENGALURU: The Shibulal Family Philanthropic Initiatives (SFPI) has announced plans to expand its Vidyadhan scholarship programme with a target to reach 1 lakh economically disadvantaged students across India by 2029. The initiative, which started in Kerala in 1999, currently operates in 22 states and union territories and has so far awarded 63,000 scholarships. The scholarship, which supports students from Class 11 through to graduation, offers financial aid ranging from Rs 10,000 to Rs 75,000 per year depending on the course. It also includes mentoring, counselling and career guidance. In 2024–25, 4,900 students were onboarded. The organisation expects to reach 13,000 students by 2025-26, including 3,410 new entries for Class 11. According to an IIM Kozhikode study cited by SFPI, graduates of the programme earn salaries three times the scholarship amount in their first year of employment. The same report stated that within 1-2 years of graduation, families of recipients typically move above the poverty line. Data shared by SFPI showed that 60 per cent of beneficiaries are girls, 90 per cent from rural areas and 5 per cent are persons with disabilities.

EPFO to implement Employment Linked Incentive scheme from Aug 1

BENGALURU: Employees' Provident Fund's Employment Linked Incentive (ELI) scheme will come to effect from August 1. The scheme is designed to incentivise both parties in an employee-employer relationship towards formal employment. The scheme is divided into two parts, concerning first-time employees and employers. Part A of the scheme shall offer one-month EPF wages up to Rs 15,000 in two installments to employees with monthly salaries up to Rs 1,00,000. Part B shall incentivise employers with up to Rs 3,000 per month, for two years, for each additional employee with sustained employment for at least six months. Anita Sinha Dixit, Additional Central Provident Fund Commissioner, Bengaluru, shared the details of the scheme. Naveendu Rai, Regional PF Commissioner, Bengaluru (Central), said, "The worker population ratio in India is about 47 percent. For a country whose median age is 29, this is too low; for most advanced countries it is within 65-70 percent. The figure indicates that not many people, who are otherwise eligible, are looking for jobs (in the formal sectors) due to various reasons."

Pasting Bharat Mata posters to stop waste dumping creates controversy

BENGALURU: An idea by BBMP marshals to control dumping of waste on the roadside by pasting posters with the image of Bharat Mata in the Jayanagar Assembly constituency has run into trouble. As videos and photos of posters pasted on the roadside were circulated on social media, the Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Ltd (BSWML) directed officials and marshals to pull down such posters and banners. The posters came up in Jayanagar two days ago. When residents and members of Hindu organisations confronted the marshal, he told them that he was doing it as per orders from above. A senior supervisor from BSWML said they have ordered marshals to remove the posters as the matter is sensitive. MLA CK Ramamurthy said, "BBMP is without an elected body for the last four years and the Congress government is unable to run the government or the municipality. First, they failed to tackle the issue of daily waste. Now, they are mocking the religion and nation". Hindu Jagarana Vedike's Mohan Gowda said a representation will be given to the head of the BBMP to ensure such incidents do not recur.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

03RD July : In all major astrological traditions Thursday is a day of opportunity and hope. It's part of what we call the celestial journey. It's time to take on ideas and activities which we had never considered, and to explore new notions about the nature of existence!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Sun is now inching firmly towards a fresh relationship with Uranus, a sure sign that if there's one prediction we can make, it's that the future is unpredictable. At work, expect the unexpected. If you're in love, I think it's time for a few dramatic gestures.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The past few months seem to have been physically and mentally taxing, but you must admit that you have a great deal going for you. It's difficult, though, to cope with partners' emotional intensity. Probably your best approach is to listen, learn and give the best advice you can.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Mars, the planet which indicates the ups and downs in your energy, is strong, but not too strong, which suggests that you may either explode with anger or turn the other cheek. I am not saying that one course of action is right and the other wrong, but you must be prepared for the consequences of whichever path you choose.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You will soon consider the advantages of moving home. However, I suspect the ultimate conclusion will be that it is better to stay where you are and make various important improvements. If you've been conjuring up financial dreams, you'll soon be beginning to put them into practice.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
So many areas in your chart are denoting imminent upheaval that you may find it difficult to believe that any change has positive consequences. But the fact is that you may need to give up something small, in order to gain something big. The future, after all, is up for grabs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
By all means continue to put your ideas forward. It looks pretty certain that most people will accept what you have to say at face value, but others will be unable to keep up. Just a word about romantic prospects: these are excellent. Mind you, the temperature is due to rise over the next few days.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A new opening or offer may not be finalised until another few weeks have passed, but I can promise you that a phase of uncertainty will be coming to an end over the next three months. Indeed, when the answers do come, you may be pleasantly surprised.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
I know that you may have been obliged to go over a lot of old ground, but in truth this is a period to focus on the future. Jupiter, you see, is a planet which has no truck with the ties and restraints of the past, and now it is working its magic in your home and family life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Calm down and don't make too much of a song and dance if monetary matters are becoming complicated. A sudden move today may run into the sand tomorrow, but then perhaps you'll get going again on the day after. Impulse buys are probably best - or at least the most enjoyable!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
I don't think you could ever be totally prepared for some of the upheavals which are scheduled for the next three weeks. However, you should now have a chance to re-evaluate some of the personal benefits of past disturbances, and in no time you'll work out how to deal with fresh challenges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If that splendid planet Jupiter is having the desired effect, you should now be able to detect more than a ray of hope in at least one special relationship. Don't turn your back on someone special, even if he, or she, has behaved badly. After all to err is human, to forgive divine.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You'll soon get well stuck in to a spot of social organising. Nobody can bring people together like you, or achieve the same spirit of peace and contentment. Why don't you pay special attention to financial breaks? After all, you'll quickly realise that you have to pay for a treasured dream.

Health dept seeks probe into 'unethical' clinical trials at HCG

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Health and Family Welfare Department has written to the Drug Controller General of India (DCGI), seeking an investigation into alleged unethical clinical trials at Bengaluru-based HCG Hospital, a well-known cancer care hospital chain.

The department acted after Justice P Krishna Bhat, former chairperson of the Institutional Ethics Committee (IEC) at HCG, raised serious concerns and resigned earlier this year. His resignation followed complaints about how clinical trials were being handled, especially patient safety, ethical violations and conflicts of interest.

In a letter dated June 30, the health commissioner noted that the allegations raised questions about compliance with rules and integrity of clinical research. "These lapses, if proven, will undermine the strict ethical principles laid down by DGCI, ICMR, DHR, and bodies like WHO," the commissioner said. Justice Bhat had written on March 5 outlining several concerns. One of the main issues was a conflict of interest — Dr Sathish, director of clinical trials at HCG, was also acting as principal investigator (PI) or co-PI in many of the clinical trials he was supposed to oversee. This, according to medical research rules, is not allowed. ICMR states members of an ethics committee should not act as investigators in the same studies, as it affects independent judgement and patient safety.

Justice Bhat had also observed that recommendations made by the committee were ignored, inclusion criteria for patient selection were relaxed to enrol more people and questions raised by the committee were not properly answered. He pointed out that the same doctor was appearing repeatedly before the ethics committee to present trial proposals and in many cases, could not answer the trial design.

Further concerns came to light after pharmaceutical company Eli Lilly and Company terminated HCG's participation in a breast cancer drug trial due to protocol violations. A termination notice in 2023 listed 15 instances where the correct dose modification procedures were not followed. Lilly's letter stated that repeated violations had a serious impact on patient safety and were classified as a 'serious breach' under good clinical practice standards.

Meanwhile, Central Drugs Standard Control Organisation has scheduled inspections of institutional and independent ethics committees in Bengaluru from Thursday till Saturday, under a risk-based framework.

HCG statement

HCG founder and chairman Dr BS Ajaikumar stated, "We've noticed some unverified information about HCG, a pioneer in cancer care in India and Africa. We assure you that we strictly adhere to all guidelines set by regulatory authorities, including DCGI and ICMR. Currently, we're successfully conducting a significant number of trials with utmost transparency, prioritising patient safety, approved by our ethics committee. Our commit-ment to delivering exceptional care remains unwavering," he said.

Minimum wages: No further action on draft notice

Bengaluru: The State Government has informed the Karnataka High Court that no action would be taken on the proposed draft notification issued in April for revision of minimum wages across 80 scheduled employments, unless a meeting is held and representatives of the industries concerned are heard. The government advocate gave this undertaking recently during the hearing of a petition filed by Nanjappa Hospitals in Shivamogga and Davanagere challenging the April 11 and 19 notifications issued by the Labour Department proposing revision of minimum wages. Centre: It's lifestyle, no heart attack-vax link

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah stated that increasing heart attack related deaths could be due to Covid-19 vaccines, the Union government on Wednesday denied it and blamed the lifestyle and pre-existing conditions are identified as key factors.

"Several studies worldwide have recently indicated that Covid vaccines could be a cause for the increasing number of heart attacks," the CM stated.

Extensive studies by ICMR and AIIMS on sudden deaths among adults post Covid, have conclusively established no linkage between Covid-19 vaccines and sudden deaths, the Union health ministry said in a release.

"These studies have conclusively established that there is no direct link between Covid-19 vaccination and reports of sudden deaths," a release added.

Studies by the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) and National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) affirm that Covid-19 vaccines in India are safe and effective, with extremely rare instances of serious side-effects. Sudden cardiac death can result from genetics, lifestyle, pre-existing conditions, and post-Covid complications, it said. ICMR and NCDC have been working together to understand the causes behind sudden unexplained deaths, especially in the age group between 18 and 45, it said.

Experts have reiterated that statements linking Covid vaccination to sudden death are false and misleading, and not supported by scientific consensus. Speculative claims without conclusive evidence risk undermining public confidence in vaccines.

5 PEOPLE DETAINED IN ₹2 CR ROBBERY CASE

Bengaluru: The Vidyaranyapura police, who are investigating the Rs 2 crore robbery involving a businessman attempting to convert cash into cryptocurrency, have detained five people. A portion of the stolen amount has also been recovered. Shriharsha V, a resident of Kengeri, had arranged Rs 2 crore in cash to import machinery from Germany for his new business. He wanted to convert the cash into USDT, a cryptocurrency, to make the payment. Shriharsha and his friend went to a commercial complex near the MS Palya signal in Vidyaranyapura after a middleman, Benjamin, along with his associate Rakshith, promised to help convert the cash into crypto. While they were counting the money at the shop, six men barged in and threatened them with a knife before fleeing the scene with the Rs 2 crore cash. Police registered a case of dacoity. ENS

DOG POOP: WOMAN, DAUGHTER ASSAULTED

Bengaluru: A woman and her daughter were allegedly assaulted by more than 10 people at Bendre Nagar in Banashankari (BSK) on Tuesday evening after an argument over dog poop in the locality. Initially, the police, who allegedly refused to register a complaint, later registered an NCR (non-cognisable report). Gayathri had taken her dog out for a stroll. While returning home, a family in the locality allegedly started an argument with her over dog poop. Gayathri informed this to her mother Anusuya. When Anusuya and Gayatri went back and questioned the family members, they were allegedly assaulted, the police said. "Members of a family in the locality picked a fight with my daughter when she took our dog for a stroll. Although my dog did not defecate there, they picked a fight and assaulted us," Anusuya told. She alleged that the police initially refused to register complaint. ENS

'Accused recorded video from adjacent restroom'

IT is alleged that the woman's husband confronted the company and demanded action.

She stated that she has been attending office due to the company mandating in-office attendance for at least 10 days a month. On Monday, she reported at 10 am. Around 11 am, she went to the restroom on the third floor of Building 38, I-Q-E Wing. Inside, she noticed some movement near the door in front of her. She came out and noticed a woman exiting the neighbouring restroom. The complainant went back inside and observed carefully. After some time, she noticed that someone from the adjacent restroom had started recording her video using a phone. The complainant stood on the commode and saw a man in the adjacent stall recording her video. When he saw her, he started apologising.

The complainant rushed out of the restroom and raised an alarm. Some employees ran to apprehend him. The man tried to escape, but two HR personnel caught him and checked his mobile phone, and found the video he had recorded of the complainant.

"The man apologised, saying sorry again, and the complainant told him to delete the video. The HR personnel took a screenshot before it was deleted. It was confirmed that the man was an Infosys employee named Swapnil Nagesh Mali, working in the Helix department as a Senior Associate Consultant," according to the complaint.

"The mobile phone will be sent to FSL to retrieve the deleted data. Though it is said there were 30 videos of different women recorded on the campus, only the retrieved data will throw light on it. The accused was arrested. The company's Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) committee is said to have been started looking into the issue. The complaint was initially taken up by South East CEN police station, and was later registered by Electronics City police," said an officer. A case of voyeurism (BNS 77) with Section 66E of the IT Act of 2008, was registered.

INFOSYS STATEMENT

"We are aware of this incident and have taken necessary action against the employee, who is now separated from the Company. We promptly supported the complainant by facilitating a swift complaint with the law enforcement authorities and continue to cooperate as they investigate further. Infosys is committed to providing an environment free of harassment and has a zero-tolerance policy. We take every complaint related to any violation of the Company's Code of Conduct seriously."

CABINET NOD FOR PROJECTS WORTH ₹3,400 CRORE

Approval for renaming Bengaluru Rural district as Bengaluru North, Bagepalli town in Chikkaballapura as Bhagyanagara

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Nandi Hills

THE Karnataka cabinet on Wednesday approved projects worth Rs 3,400 crore, of which districts falling under the Bengaluru division, including Kolar and Chikkaballapura, have got a lion's share of Rs 2,550 crore.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that the commitment of the cabinet for development is a fitting response to the Opposition, especially the BJP, which accused the government of not releasing funds for development.

A key decision taken by the Cabinet was to rename Bengaluru Rural district as Bengaluru North and Bagepalli town as Bhagyanagara. Also, Bengaluru City University will be named after former PM Dr Manmohan Singh.

"When we came to power in 2023, we decided to hold cabinet meetings in every revenue division. We held a meeting in Kalaburagi. Recently, we met in MM Hills in Mysuru division. Now, we have conducted it in Nandi Hills in Bengaluru division. The next one will be in Vijayapura in Belagavi division," the CM said, adding that Cabinet meetings are held across the state to decentralise administration and to focus on the problems faced by every region and provide "therapeutic solutions to them".

The Cabinet also sanctioned several projects for Nandi Hills, Chikkaballapura, and Kolar. A sum of Rs 50 crore has been granted to develop a hotel and other facilities atop Nandi Hills. The Cabinet also approved Rs 10 crore to set up an international flower auction centre, and a high-tech flower market in Chikkaballapura at a cost of Rs 141.5 crore. Also, Rs 40 crore and Rs 20 crore have been sanctioned to upgrade basic amenities at government boys college and government girls college, respectively, in Kolar.

To develop the second phase of the Bengaluru North campus in Amaravathi village in Shidlaghatta taluk, Rs 123 crore has been set aside.

The Cabinet has also decided to upgrade primary health centre into community health centre at Rs 46 crore and purchase MRI machines for medical colleges in Chikkaballapur and Hubballi at a cost of Rs 21.40 crore.

Deputy CM DK Shivakumar announced the formation of a Cabinet Sub-Committee under the chairmanship of Law Minister HK Patil to review the progress of the probe into illegal mining, recommend further steps to be taken, and submit a report to the State Government in a month's time.

Cost of Yettinahole project to escalate further

Sating that drinking water will be provided to 75 lakh people in 9 districts under the Yettinahole project, the CM said, of 24.1 tmcft of water, 14 tmcft is required for drinking water. A revised estimate of Rs 23,251 crore has been made for the project, of which Rs 17,147 crore has been spent so far. Siddaramaiah further said that while overall Rs 8,000 crore is required for completing the remaining project work, Rs 6,000 crore is remaining after spending. "The cost has increased due to land acquisition. The cabinet discussed this, and the matter of providing remaining funds will be placed before the next cabinet through the Finance department," he said.

CM has lost confidence of MLAs: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru:

BJP state president BY Vijayendra said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has lost the confidence of his party legislators, and Congress General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala was in Bengaluru to prepare the ground for a change of guard in the government.

Speaking to media persons in Bengaluru, the BJP leader said that the current developments within the Congress and the competition for the CM post could lead to horse-trading. He urged the Governor to take note of the situation.

Vijayendra remarked that the situation in the state is deteriorating rapidly, the administrative machinery has collapsed, and internal competition among the Congress MLAs is growing, especially for the Chief Minister's position.

Opposition Leader in the Assembly R Ashoka said a change of Chief Minister is certain in October or November. Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, the BJP leader urged the Congress high command to clarify if Siddaramaiah will remain CM. Ashoka said out of fear, Siddaramaiah himself repeatedly claims that he would continue as the CM, while DK Shivakumar is sending signals of seizing power.

The BJP leader said the government lacks funds, MLAs are frustrated, and the public has lost confidence. Ashoka challenged Shivakumar to declare that Siddaramaiah will remain CM until 2028.

Ashoka opposed the government decision to name Bengaluru University after Manmohan Singh, arguing that abrupt name changes, like those of districts, disrespect ancestors. He accused the government of dividing Bengaluru and vowed that the BJP, upon coming to power, would unify it.

CBI Probe into Valmiki Corporation Scam

Ashoka and Vijayendra described the High Court's decision to hand over the Valmiki Corporation scam probe to the CBI as a major victory for the BJP's relentless struggle. Vijayendra said several big names will tumble out during the probe. He said Rs 187 crore meant for the socio-economic and educational upliftment of Scheduled Tribes in Karnataka was misused. The money was allegedly spent in bars, jewelry shops, and even during the Lok Sabha elections, he said.

Deaths in Hassan

The BJP state president termed the CM's remarks on a possible link between the deaths of 35-40 people due to heart attacks in Hassan with the Covid vaccine as an irresponsible statement. Vijayendra questioned whether vaccines were administered only in Hassan. He said crores of people across India and many other countries were vaccinated, and that the state government must investigate the deaths in Hassan.

DKS: No rift in Congress

ENS @ Bengaluru

KPCC president and DyCM DK Shivakumar on Wednesday said there are no differences within the party and AICC general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala was here to take stock of the party's organisational matters. Addressing reporters, Shivakumar said Surjewala interacted with party leaders and legislators on their roles and responsibilities and preparations to be made for the next elections in the state.

On senior Congress MLA BR Patil's statement that he played a key role in helping Siddaramaiah become CM, which had embarrassed the party, Shivakumar indirectly stated that a notice may be issued to Patil.

Asked about the notice issued to Ramanagara MLA Iqbal Hussain, Shivakumar said discipline is important for the party. "Notice will be issued to anyone who crosses the disciplinary line. There was no need to mention my name for CM when Siddaramaiah is CM," he said.

On whether Iqbal Hussain backed him for CM because of his contributions to building the party in the state, Shivakumar said, "Am I the only one who has built the party? Lakhs of people like me have worked hard to build the party and we have to live up to their trust in us," he said.

Siddaramaiah a hardworking CM: Ramalinga Reddy

NANDI HILLS: Siddaramaiah is a very hardworking chief minister and among the most popular CMs in the country who is keen on implementing development works, Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy has said. Reddy said that the government deciding to hold a cabinet meeting at Nandi Hills shows that the CM is committed to the development of all regions of the state. Reddy spoke to TNIE after the cabinet meeting. On AICC general secretary and Congress in-charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala campaigning in Bengaluru to interact with party legislators individually to elicit their opinion, Reddy said that he has not called any ministers for a meeting. He said that if given an opportunity, he will meet the top brass leaders in Bengaluru and not New Delhi. On a few Congress legislators openly expressing their displeasure, the minister said party affairs should be discussed within the four walls of the party. He, however, said that all is well in the state Congress and added that the high command's decision was final. ENS

WITH this, both leaders seem to have put an end to speculation over the change in chief minister's post in November when Siddaramaiah completes two-and-a-half years in office. Their statements assume significance coming on the back of AICC General Secretary, Karnataka incharge, Randeep Singh Surjewala, meeting party MLAs to assess their mood, review their progress and hear their grievances. Most MLAs who met Surjewala, except Ramanagara legislator Iqbal Hussain, said there is no change in the government.

At Nandi Hills, Siddaramaiah was visibly exuberant. He chastised Shivakumar for coming late to the cabinet meeting and missing the group photo session. At the press conference, he made fun of Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa for being absent minded. Even after Siddaramaiah said that Bengaluru Rural district too will benefit from the Yettinahole project, Muniyappa said the government should extend the project benefits to the region. "Muniyappa was not attentive. He thinks about politics round the clock," Siddaramaiah said in jest.

His close confidant and Social Welfare Minister HC Mahadevappa also said Siddaramaiah will complete five years as CM as he was elected by the party MLAs. Labour Minister Santosh Lad expressed similar feelings, while Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy said he will go by AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge, who said the decision of changing the CM is at the hands of party high command.

JDS members protest over funds

BENGALURU: JDS members staged a protest in Bengaluru's Freedom Park on Wednesday, alleging that the State Government has no funds to release for the development of constituencies. They demanded that the Chief Minister Siddaramaiah resign on moral grounds. JDS leader Ramesh Gowda said that the party would petition the governor about corruption in the government that has bankrupted the state. Meanwhile, the social media wing of the JDS posted a photo of Siddaramaiah along with his cabinet colleagues at Nandi Hills and said this will be his last cabinet meeting as CM.

Furnish docs, forensic images to CBI: HC tells CID, ED, others

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has directed the Criminal Investigation Department, Directorate of Enforcement (ED), Central Forensic Science Laboratory (CFSL) and State FSL and the trial court to furnish documents and forensic images of digital devices sought by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to conduct further investigation and filing of final report in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation Ltd (KMVSTDCL) and two other instances of fund diversion. The CBI has requested assistance concerning the ongoing investigation allegedly exposing two additional instances of fund diversion involving government departments in addition to misappropriation of Rs 89.63 crore at KMVSTDCL.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the interim order, acceding to the CBI request, while hearing the petition filed by BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal and three others, who have sought the Valmiki Corporation scam, being probed by the Special Investigation Team of CID, to be handed over to the CBI. The petitioners allege that the SIT, in its final report, did not name certain high-ranking officials and also incumbent ministers. In its application before the HC, the CBI stated that the investigation has revealed additional instances of fund diversion involving other government departments. Rs 95 lakh was siphoned off from the account of Karnataka German Technical Training Institute (KGTTI), maintained at Canara Bank, Bengaluru and transferred to the account of accused Nekkanti Nagaraj through intermediary accounts, it alleged.

The CBI also stated that Rs 2.17 crore belonging to the Scheduled Tribes Welfare Department was diverted from another account of Valmiki Corporation maintained with Bank of Baroda, Siddaiah Road Branch, Bengaluru, and routed again to the accused Nekkanti Nagaraj. With these facts emerging, the CBI pleaded before the high court seeking permission to investigate the role of officials and private individuals involved in the diversion of funds from KGTTI and the ST Welfare Department.

The CBI pointed out that the investigation is at an advanced stage, and the final report should be filed in the due course against public servants and other accused.

The CBI urged the court to issue directives to CID, ED, CFSL and state FSL and the trial court to furnish copies of the documents and forensic images of digital devices seized and grant permission to it for investigating newly surfaced instances, which are linked to the Valmiki Corporation scam.

The court said, "What the CBI has sought is only to further the investigation that is entrusted to it by the bank. Horizons of investigation are sought to be expanded in view of what is gathered during the investigation, as narrated in the status report. Since the prayer is for completion of investigation or taking the investigation to its logical conclusion by filing a final report before the trial court, this court deems it appropriate to grant the prayers that are sought by the CBI in the status report," the court said.

₹89.63 cr diverted, CBI tells HC

"During the investigation, the involvement of public servants, in collusion with other accused persons, has been prima facie established. It is further established in the investigation that Rs 89.63 crore was diverted from the accounts of the Valmiki Corporation scam to a large number of beneficiary accounts. The diverted funds were subsequently laundered into hard cash, bullion, and luxury vehicles," CBI told HC in its status report.

Don't want to comment on probe: HM

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara has said that he does not want to comment on the HC referring the probe into the alleged scam in the Valmiki ST Development Corporation to the CBI. When asked if the HC ordering to quash the SIT and referring the case to the CBI has embarrassed the State Government, the minister said that the court may have weighed the merit of the case and passed the order. "Let there be a probe; we do not want to comment on it," he said. On the CAT quashing IPS officer Vikash Kumar's suspension order, Dr Parameshwara said that the government will appeal against it. On the demand to connect Bengaluru and Tumakuru by the Metro, he said a feasibility study has been completed. "We need to call for a detailed project report, and then a tender will be floated. Along with this, there is a need to take the Union Government's nod. There are more procedures. I am just appealing to the concerned to expedite the project," he said.

BJP MLC makes offensive remark against chief secy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BJP MLC and opposition whip in the Council N Ravikumar is once again in the eye of a storm over another controversial remark targeting senior IAS officers, drawing sharp condemnation from common people, bureaucrats, and political opponents.

In his comment on Tuesday, Ravikumar alleged that Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh "works all night for the government and all day for the Chief Minister". Criticised as sexist and derogatory, the statement prompted the Mysuru-based women's rights group Odanadi Seva Samsthe to file a formal complaint with the director general of police. It also petitioned the state women's commission and the high court registrar. "We have urged them to take action against this person," said Odanadi's Parashuram ML. "Until now, no action has been taken against anyone who has spoken disrespectfully or spitefully. Why can't we have some respect in public discourse," he wondered. This is not Ravikumar's first brush with controversy. Some five weeks ago, during BJP's Kalaburagi Chalo rally, he questioned the nationality of Kalaburagi DC Fauzia Tarannum, saying, "I don't know whether the IAS officer is from Pakistan or from here." The remark, which quickly spread on social media, was widely denounced as inflammatory and offensive.

Retired officials and rights groups warned that such attacks on civil servants could demoralise the administrative system. "Such rhetoric promotes a culture of disrespect and sends a chilling message to officers working under pressure," said one retired bureaucrat.

Ravikumar is yet to respond to the latest criticism. KPCC General Secretary S Manohar filed a complaint with the High Ground police, stating that Ravikumar made the statement near the Mahatma Gandhi statue close to Vidhana Soudha after a protest. The High Ground police said action will be taken after verifying details.

Registrar cancels event over Bharat Mata poster, suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@T'Puram

The political war between the Kerala state government and the Raj Bhavan took a turn for the worse on Wednesday, with the Kerala University vice-chancellor suspending Registrar K S Anil Kumar for cancelling an event that displayed the controversial image of Bharat Mata carrying a saffron flag on the dais at the Senate Hall.

The event, attended by Governor Rajendra Arlekar, was hosted by a private organisation on June 25. V-C Mohanan Kunnummal ordered the registrar's suspension two days after he submitted a preliminary report, which was critical of the registrar, to Arlekar on the incident.

Higher Education Minister R Bindu and the Left-dominated Syndicate questioned the legitimacy of the order, while Kumar said he would take legal recourse.Mohanan suspended the registrar by invoking Section 10 (13) of the Kerala University Act that empowers the V-C to act on behalf of the Syndicate in urgent situations when the apex body is not in session. In the suspension order, the V-C said disciplinary action was being taken against the registrar for his acts, which were "prejudicial to the interests of the university".

Talking to media, the registrar disputed the grounds on which he was suspended and maintained that he had not shown any disrespect to the governor. Alleging that Kunnummal had been given charge of V-C in KU because of his "RSS links", Bindu took a dig at the governor. "Some chancellors", she said, were trying to vitiate the atmosphere in the education sector through their "saffronisation attempts" and warned that such moves would be dealt with appropriately.

VRS due to personal reasons: IPS officer

VIJAYAWADA: Senior IPS officer Siddharth Kaushal has clarified that he has tendered his voluntary retirement from police service due to personal reasons, amid rumours that his decision was made under political pressure. He bid farewell to his police career of over 13 years in law enforcement across Andhra Pradesh. Denying the speculations online suggesting his resignation was due to harassment, he stated that such claims are completely baseless and misleading.

After tigers, 20 monkeys found dead in Bandipur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

JUST a week after the poisoning deaths of five tigers, a mother and her cubs, in MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary, over 20 monkeys (Bonnet Macaques) were found poisoned and dumped near Melkammanahalli, bordering Bandipur Tiger Reserve in Gundlupet taluk of Chamarajanagar district, on Wednesday.

The monkeys were discovered stuffed into two bags and discarded along the Koandegala-Kodasoge Road around 6.30 am by passersby. Forest officials rushed two surviving monkeys to the Government Veterinary Hospital in Hangala, Gundlupet taluk.

Suspecting deliberate poisoning, the Forest Department deployed the Bandipur Tiger Reserve's dog squad to inspect the site, which falls within the reserve's buffer zone.

Meanwhile, Karnataka Forest, Ecology and Environment Minister Eshwara Khandre has ordered an investigation into allegations that a leopard was hunted by poachers in MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary.

The directive follows a complaint by social activist Dinesh Kallahalli, who alleged that on June 5, poachers killed a leopard in the Thimmarayanakonchalu forest of the Kaudalli range along the Rampura–Martalli border, severed all four legs, and fled. He claimed the animal was killed for its claws and accused officials of covering up the incident.

Khandre said that the death of any scheduled animal must be reported to his office and audited. He ordered a detailed investigation and sought a report with recommendations for action against those responsible within a week.

'Humiliation was televised live, none reached out'

DURING a public protest by Congress in Belagavi against price rise, a group in the crowd waved black flags. This infuriated Siddaramaiah, who summoned Barmani, who was present near the dais, to the stage. In full public view and in front of media cameras, Siddaramaiah raised his hand as if to slap Barmani.

Barmani wrote, "The entire state saw the CM raise his hand to slap me on live television. Though I managed to avoid physical assault, I could not escape the humiliation of being disgraced before thousands, including senior political leaders and the media."

What compounded his pain, he said, was the silence of senior officers and colleagues, none of whom reached out in solidarity.

Barmani confirmed to TNIE in Dharwad that he had submitted his resignation letter, but refused to comment further on media reports surrounding the episode. Meanwhile, Home Minister G Parameshwara said he has spoken to Barmani. "He will be given a posting. The CM did not intend any insult. It was not intentional. Me and minister HK Patil have spoken to him," he added.

GOVERNMENT TRYING TO RETAIN BARMANI?

Highly placed sources said the state government is making efforts to persuade Barmani to withdraw his resignation. He is reportedly being considered for appointment as deputy commissioner of police (law and order) in Belagavi as a conciliatory gesture. However, it remains unclear whether such a transfer is feasible, as the post is currently held by IPS officer Rohan Jagadish.

'Religious violence, riots triggered by social media'

THE commissioner added that at times, arrests are made in a discriminatory manner — an individual posting something on social media might be arrested swiftly, but if the person involved is a politician, action is often delayed.

"If any religious or communal issue arises, there is often direct political party backing on both sides. Political patronage for communal offenders, regardless of which party is in power, is not a new phenomenon in the state," the officer said.

He said that riots and other religion-related issues could have been prevented through better intelligence gathering. "The state intelligence department and local intelligence units are weak. With Zilla Panchayat and Taluk Panchayat elections around the corner, political parties and their cadres are becoming active," the officer added.

While the government has announced several special measures like an anti-communal wing and a special action force, the IPS officer said these initiatives remain on paper, often announced as reactive measures. The government must encourage strict against offenders.

Another IPS officer serving as an SP of a district said, "A sense of communal hatred has taken root in society. People have become intolerant even to minor mistakes or mischief by other communities. If a religious procession causes even a small disturbance or damage, it is not taken in a constructive spirit." Long-standing religious and caste-based tensions in some districts continue to be a problem. Offenders often manage to escape the criminal justice system, which only encourage them further. Conviction rates in such cases remain very low, he noted.

Another IPS officer said that currently, violence related to religion are triggered by social media. The situation escalates further through comments on such posts. Earlier, tensions were limited to a particular place, but now, due to social media, they spread across the entire state. However, since communal issues flare up due to social media, the police are monitoring online platforms, taking strict action where necessary, and are engaging in community outreach programmes to improve the intelligence network with local leaders, the officers said.

Modi govt has lost credibility abroad: Surjewala

Bengaluru: AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala slammed the Union government, saying that Pakistan, despite supporting terrorism, is leading the UN Security Council. He alleged that the Modi government had lost credibility and termed it a major diplomatic setback for India. "Prime Minister Narendra Modi visited many countries in the past ten years, and so has External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar. Modi has spent more than Rs 10,000 crore on his foreign trips, and met PMs and Presidents abroad. In spite of that, he could not get their cooperation," he said. Surjewala said when there was an attack on tourists at Pahalgam in Kashmir, the International Monetary Fund gave $20billion to Pakistan. None of the smaller neighbours, including Sri Lanka and Nepal, stood with India. He said India had helped Sri Lanka financially, but they did not help. Surjewala alleged that India is not getting support globally because of India's external affairs polices.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

ACCORD MOTHER TONGUE PROMINENCE, BUT EMBRACE LANGUAGES SANS BORDERS

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis has unwittingly awoken Marathi asmita (pride) by first introducing and then withdrawing a plan to include Hindi as the third language in the state's primary schools. In the process, he has achieved what months of private parleys could not—bringing together the estranged and politically weakened Thackeray cousins, Uddhav and Raj. The dithering has also given the new state Congress chief, Harshwardhan Sapkal, the rare opportunity to board a bogey his party has hardly ever ridden. And it has boxed in Eknath Shinde, the partner-in-governance whose Shiv Sena faction's minister heads school education. The electricity crackling in the air—which has sparked hooliganism on ground—is changing the calculus for the upcoming civic polls.

The 2020 National Education Policy's insistence on teaching at least two languages in school is based on sound science. Research shows that learning multiple languages before adulthood improves crucial skills such as cognition, hand-eye coordination and memory. However, it's the BJP-Sena government's bid to introduce it in primary schools that drew the ire of parents, teachers, language activists and opposition politicians. To Fadnavis's attempts of propping the Union government's policy in his defence, Marathi language activists posit the NEP's advice for instruction only in the local or home language till class 8. The boon and bane of having the same script, Devanagari, is back in intellectual discourse. Such a tangle of livewires has tripped the ambitious chief minister's stride towards Hindi.

It's indeed a sensitive issue in a state where people still honour the '106 martyrs' who died in the late 1950s agitating for a separate Marathi speakers' province. Yet ironically, like dominant tongues in several other states, Marathi too flexes muscle for what scholar Prachi Deshpande calls the 'bear hug' of language. Konkani speakers on the state's southern borders have resisted Marathi's sway for decades, while Dangi speakers on its northern fringes are still contending with its peremptory ways. The abiding paradox is that though most Indian states were demarcated linguistically, language itself brooks no border. In a country with 22 constitutionally scheduled languages and hundreds of others thriving, we have to accept lingual influences across and within state lines. Despite the heat of politics, culture shrivels in the cold confines of hard borders.

HEED PREVAILING FACTORS IN VACCINE SAFETY STUDY

THE death of 21 people over 40 days in a single Karnataka district has brought focus on the possible links between Covid vaccines and sudden heart attacks. The state government has ordered a probe into the deaths in Hassan and is expecting a report in 10 days. But it's unlikely that any conclusive evidence of the link would emerge.

Studies worldwide have reported a high degree of uncertainty on such a link, but that has not stopped speculation. A study conducted last year in South Korea's Yonsei University College of Medicine revealed a higher risk of heart disease among individuals receiving mRNA vaccines than the other types, but no significant link between the vaccine type and the risk of "acute heart disease". The study also noted that younger individuals receiving mRNA vaccines (like Gemcovac-OM, an Omicron-specific booster vaccine used in India) had a higher risk than older individuals.

On the other hand, a 2024 study by University of Minnesota's Centre for Infectious Disease Research and Policy—on data of 46 million adults gathered by the British Heart Foundation—had found that adenovirus-based Covid vaccines, which includes the Covishield variety widely used in India, potentially caused thrombotic thrombocytopenia, or clotting in small blood vessels causing a drop in platelet count, red blood cell breakdown and potential organ damage. Meanwhile mRNA-based vaccines were found to potentially cause slightly increased rates of myocarditis, an inflammation of the muscular layer of the heart wall that weakens the organ's ability to pump blood, and pericarditis, an inflammation of the sack-like structure surrounding the heart that can cause chest pain and, in some cases, serious complications. However, the study also indicated that the incidence of cardiovascular diseases dropped after every Covid vaccination.

So, while the Indian Council of Medical Research claims to have conclusively proved the lack of a direct link between Covid vaccines and sudden deaths, other studies have relayed confusing signals on the vaccines' safety for cardiovascular health. As the scientific community pursues an accurate proof, the importance of evidence-based public health measures cannot be ignored. This must include focusing on the role played by underlying health issues, genetic predisposition and risky lifestyle choices in unexplained deaths. And that—as much as the safety of vaccines—needs urgent attention for a healthier India.

DHARMACHAKRA'S TURN

IF the world was waiting on Wednesday to hear the bang of the 15th Dalai Lama's unveiling, the official announcement from Dharamshala came as a whimper. But in a sphere where dharma's chakra moves agonisingly slowly, the statement that the 14th Dalai Lama's successor can be anointed only by the Gaden Phodrang Trust set a consequential direction. With it, Tenzin Gyatso effectively nixed China's dream of creating confusion after his passing by appointing a rival head of Tibetan Buddhism—as they did with the 11th Panchen Lama. The Dalai Lama has earlier irked Beijing by claiming he would live to be 110 or older. Meanwhile, the 'middle path' he chose for millions of Tibetans remains indistinguishable on the rough terrain of history.

The grief following the death of two Manipuri women in the Ahmedabad crash cut across the state's ethnic divide. Empathy over common suffering brought the warring groups closer

MANIPUR'S MORAL IMAGINATION TAKES OFF AFTER A CRASH

PRADIP PHANJOUBAM
Editor, Imphal Review of Arts and Politics

SOURAV ROY

TWENTY-FIVE months after a violent ethnic conflict broke out between Meiteis and Kuki-Zo tribes, and four months into president's rule, the guns have more or less fallen silent in Manipur. There are sighs of relief everywhere, yet none is fooled into believing that this is peace. It is, at best, the proverbial peace of the graveyard.

There is little to be surprised about this. The inferno that raged in the state for two years was unprecedented and bloody, claiming over 260 lives and displacing an estimated 60,000 people. There has also been a matching scale of losses of properties to arson attacks, and worse still, the two sides have mutually cleansed each other from their traditional home-grounds. The Meiteis are primarily in the Imphal valley and the Kukis-Zo in the foothills adjoining the valley. In the higher reaches are the Nagas.

Probably fatigue and a realisation of the senselessness of continued hostility are ensuring this semblance of calm. But for this 'negative peace', as Johan Galtung called it, to transform into 'positive peace', a reconciliatory process is vital. There can be no gainsaying that horrific atrocities have happened, but in paving a path to reconciliation, both warring sides must first overcome their victimhood syndrome and have the courage to acknowledge they have been both the victims as well as the perpetrators, depending on the locations of riots. Casualty figures bear testimony to this.

From day one of the conflict, social media has played a key role in igniting and fueling inflammatory passions. If not for it, in all likelihood, the trouble could have been arrested at Torbung area itself where arson rampages first broke out on the afternoon of May 3, 2023. Terabytes after terabytes of misinformation and disinformation have flooded social media space ever since, making the overall atmosphere corrosive and toxic.

Then suddenly, an event of 'terrible beauty' happened to temporarily cleanse Manipur's social media spaces of this toxicity. In a devastating tragedy, on June 12, the London-bound Air India flight crashed soon after take-off from Ahmedabad. Among the cabin crew were two flight attendants from Manipur—one a Kuki, Lamnunthem Singson, 26, and the other a Meitei, Kongbrailatpam Nganthoi Sharma, 20.

From the video clips that have surfaced since the crash, Lamnunthem impresses as being quiet and graceful. She is the daughter of a widowed mother, and before the conflict, lived in their home at Old Lambulane in the heart of Imphal city, but had to flee to Kuki-dominated Kangpokpi town 45 km from Imphal, where the family now lives in a rented accommodation. The younger woman, Nganthoi, exudes childlike naughtiness, and an easy, amiable, charming smile. She is from Thoubal, a township 23 km from Imphal.

The shock at the news of the tragic deaths of the two women created a tidal wave of empathy in Manipur that breached the ethnic divide. Reciprocally, the routine slanging matches on social media spaces between the warring communities also faded considerably, to be replaced by dam bursts of prayers and condolences. Many had believed that in the enormity of the public grief over their death, the two women would purge and redeem Manipur to pave a path to a reconciliatory process.

Heeding to calls by civil society organisations, a large number of people had gathered to receive the two bodies with honour at Imphal airport. The government had assured that Lamnunthem's body would be escorted under heavy security through Imphal Valley. A hearsay doing the rounds at the time was that Lamnunthem's mother wished for her daughter's body to be first taken to their abandoned Imphal home, and, from there, brought to Kangpokpi for burial. The public mood too was to have this supposed motherly wish fulfilled.

Sadly, the plans changed. The announcement came on certain digital media outlets that Lamnunthem's body would be brought via Dimapur airport in Nagaland, 200 km away from Kangpokpi and not via Imphal airport. The explanation for this came not from her immediate family, but from certain relatives in Kangpokpi, who said with a hint of condescension that they were not interested in fanfare, and that Imphal was still not safe for Kuki-Zo tribes.

Disappointment was the dominant emotion but there were also some angry allegations that even death was being politicised thus. However, this was not pushed too far and the matter was allowed to rest without further ado. Lamnunthem's body, which was DNA-matched and identified on June 17, was routed through Dimapur airport and eventually given an honourable public Christian burial in Kangpokpi. Almost a week later, Nganthoi body too was DNA-matched and flown back to Imphal airport and from there taken to her hometown in Thoubal to be given the last rites as per the faith of her family and cremated.

It is amazing that the two tragic deaths brought a conflict-ridden Manipur on the edge of what John Paul Lederach called "the moral imagination" in his book by the same title. This is, among others, the ability of humans to see their own griefs and losses as also the destiny of their adversaries, and in the identification of their common sufferings, find mutual redemption.

This generosity of spirit obviously would not come easily midst bloody conflicts but for peace to prevail, there will have to be some with the courage to swim against the tides of hatred and vengeance to discover what Steven Pinker has called "the better angels of our nature". If hatred begets hatred to complete a vicious cycle, the faith is that love also will ultimately be reciprocated with love in a virtuous circle.

Lamnunthem and Nganthoi, virtually unknown to the larger public while alive, will surely be remembered for a long time for revealing the possibility of empathetic bondage even among warring groups. If the flitting moral imagination they evoked had fructified to pave the way for the return of peace between their communities, their memory probably would have been immortalised. This unfortunately was not allowed to be. But then, maybe the empathy window they provided is a seed waiting to germinate into another moral world at another time.

THE WORLD'S ONLY MEGA-BOMBER

KAJAL BASU
Veteran journalist

THERE is a quote often attributed to Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto after Japan's attack on Pearl Harbour, that it might have "awakened a sleeping giant". A similar simile is attributed to Napoleon Bonaparte, albeit with a few variations: "China is a sleeping giant/ dragon/ lion."

That the quotes are apocryphal is beside the point. They indicated directions in which the countries were likely to go. In the event, America got there first: it nuked Hiroshima and Nagasaki, becoming the first and only country in the world to have deployed nuclear weapons. China took a half-century more to get to a place where it can use nuclear weapons—but has refrained, as a matter of policy, from even hinting at the possibility of ever using them.

The US went on to design other big bombs: the 6,800-kg 'daisy cutter', which it used in Vietnam, the Gulf War and outside the Tora Bora caves in Afghanistan in 2001. When it was 'retired' in 2008, it was replaced with the 9,850 kg Massive Ordnance Air Blast (MOAB, or 'mother of all bombs') first used in 2017 in Afghanistan and still in stock. And in 2011, the US made the 'biggest bomb of them all'—the 12,304-kg Massive Ordnance Penetrator or 'bunker buster'. After 14 years of aggregating 20 of these gigabombs, the US used them on Iran.

In effect, in order to escape proscriptions in the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons or NPT, to which the US is a founder-signatory, America went the way of non-nuclear devices with the explosive output of a small, tactical nuclear bomb.

In her 2007 book, The United States and the Non-Use of Nuclear Weapons Since 1945, Nina Tannenwald wrote about the "four critical instances where US leaders considered using nuclear weapons—Japan 1945, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, and the Gulf War 1991". That they did not was because of the so-called 'nuclear taboo', a moral construct that exists and, going by the number of nuclear weapon-owning countries that have not signed the NPT, despite the prevalence in governmental-military quarters of the rationalist deterrence theory (or MAD, mutually assured destruction). But the way around the albatrosses of the 'nuclear taboo' and the NPT is building bigger and more destructive non-nuclear bombs. This is the route the US has taken.

America has always been in love with the monumental: the bigger, the better; shock and awe. Since the end of the Second World War, it has built more and more colossal explosive devices. But wars and armamentation run on capital. The potential income from conflicts must outstrip expenditure on weapons manufacturing. Therefore, the bigger these bombs have got, the fewer are being made.

US AIR FORCE

To avoid the taboo of using N-weapons, the US has built massive non-nuclear bombs that have similar impact. Russia and China have some in their armouries, too. But the US is the only country to have used them in conflicts

The 'daisy cutters', with a blast yield equivalent to 11 tonnes of TNT, numbered 225 before production was shelved. Production of the MOAB, which also has a blast yield of 11 tonnes of TNT but is a far more complex and expensive device, stopped at 15. The MOP, even more high-tech, delivers, according to Scientific American, "800 to 900 megajoules of kinetic energy—comparable to a Boeing 747-400 touching down at 170 mph" with "all that energy concentrated into a tiny area". Only 20 of these monsters have been built, with 14 of them expended in a single attack on Iran.

China and Russia have also built giant bombs. In 2007, Russia field-tested the Aviation Thermobaric Bomb of Increased Power, which was nicknamed the 'father of all bombs' or FOAB, and is reportedly deadlier than the MOAB. With a blast yield of 44 tonnes of TNT, it is a thermobaric (air-burst) bomb with the destructive potential of a small tactical N-weapon. This year, China tested a non-nuclear hydrogen-based explosive device that weighs just 2 kg and is capable of creating a 1,000°C fireball that can burn through metal.

These are hell's own weapons and have a multidecadal history of development. But if they have been built at scale after R&D, they have remained unexported. And, most importantly, unused.

No other country but the US has used the megabombs in its armoury. The US has used every single one, in one or other large conflict it has been involved in over the past three-quarters of a century. Neither Russia nor China has ever used them—not to speak of other global movers-and-shakers such as India, Pakistan, Türkiye or Israel, with truculence and exceptionalism pushing their sense of extraordinary military self-worth.

Or even deployed the existence of these bombs diplomatically. Israel used American-made big bombs in Gaza and Iran. The other countries have so far confined out of sight and sound the non-nuclear big bombs in their armouries, if they exist at all in enough numbers, as devices to be mentioned in the course of confrontational diplomacy.

In effect, the US does not do hyper-explosive deterrence. Having used in real life—and as brutal realpolitik—nearly every big bomb it has ever created, it expects the deterrence capability intrinsic to the ownership of megabombs to be the responsibility of other nations.

And therein lies the danger of one of the world's two hyper-powers—which was, until the first decade of this century, the world's leading-edge superpower—not taking kindly to its diminution currently under way. If the world should remain anxious about any country using non-nuclear but nuclear-adjacent big bombs in the fractious years to come, it is the US.

Oppn meets EC, opposes Bihar poll roll revision...

... meanwhile, poll panel says will only respond to heads of registered parties

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

LEADERS of several INDIA bloc parties met the Election Commission on Wednesday and flagged concerns over the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Bihar. Leaders from 11 parties, including the Congress, RJD, CPM, CPI, CPI(ML) Liberation, NCP-SP and Samajwadi Party met Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and other election commissioners, objecting to the special scrutiny being conducted just a few months ahead of the assembly election in the state.

The INDIA bloc parties have been vocal in their opposition to the exercise of the Special Intensive Revision, which has already started in Bihar, and is to be carried out in five more states -- Assam, Kerala, Puducherry, Tamil Nadu and West Bengal -- that are going to polls next year.

Speaking to media after the meeting, Congress MP Abhishek Singhvi said they also protested against the new directive of the poll panel for entry to the Election Commission premises that ask only party presidents to appear before it.

INDIA bloc leaders address the media after meeting the Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar over voters' list revision, in New Delhi on Wednesday | PTI

"For the first time, we were given rules to enter the EC. For the first time we were told only party chiefs can go. Such restriction means necessary dialogue between political parties and EC can't happen," Singhvi said.

"We had given a list, no unauthorised person was allowed. Forcing parties to allow only two people is unfortunate," he said, adding, some senior leaders had to wait for three hours.

"We asked since last revision, four or five elections have been held in Bihar." The SIR of 2003 was held one year before the Lok Sabha elections, it was 24 months before Bihar assembly polls.

"The second point was that if you were to do the SIR, then why was the announcement made suddenly at the end of June. The third point is that you are seeking documents for this. For one decade, for everything, you ask for the Aadhaar card and ration card. For the first time, you are saying that a person's name will not be considered if one doesn't have a birth certificate," he said.

RJD leader Manoj Jha sought to know whether the exercise was about disenfranchising people.

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

CLAIMING that it has been receiving "repeated and conflicting" meeting requests by "unauthorised" individuals on behalf of various parties, the Election Commission on Wednesday said it decided that it would take cognisance of such communication only from heads of political parties.

A poll panel official said, "In view of repeated conflicting emails sent by unauthorised persons on behalf of political parties, the EC will take cognisance only of heads of parties, who are the official authorised representatives of political parties registered with EC and no other unauthorised person(s)."

The official said several individuals, claiming to represent political parties, have been seeking appointments with the commission to discuss the ongoing special intensive revision of Bihar electoral rolls. The poll panel "will junk such requests by unauthorised persons," he added.

Opposition parties have accused the EC of becoming an extended office of the BJP and alleged that the revision exercise is likely to lead to a situation where eligible citizens could be deprived of their right to vote.

EC officials said a legal counsel of the Congress sought an urgent meeting with the poll panel on Wednesday regarding the revision exercise on behalf of several parties. The counsel, in an e-mail received on June 30, claimed to be representing a multi-party delegation belonging to the INDIA bloc. But only CPI(ML) Liberation, CPI(M), and RJD have confirmed participation by their representatives in the meeting, he said.

In first conviction after ouster, Hasina sentenced to 6 months in jail by ICT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

IN an escalation of legal action against Bangladesh's ousted Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina, a three-member bench of the International Crimes Tribunal (ICT) on Wednesday sentenced her to six months in prison for contempt of court. This marks the first time that the Awami League leader has been sentenced in any case.

The verdict, delivered by ICT Chairman Justice Md Golam Mortaza Mozumder, marks the first conviction against the former PM since her removal from office in August 2024 following a student-led uprising. The tribunal ruled that Hasina's remarks made in exile had "undermined the dignity and authority" of the court.

The prosecution filed a complaint against Sheikh Hasina over a phone call in which she allegedly claimed she had a "license to kill" 227 people. After repeated failures to appear before the tribunal, public notices were issued for her summoning.

The ICT was established by Hasina herself in 2008 to prosecute those accused of war crimes during the 1971 Liberation War. But since her ouster and subsequent escape from Dhaka, the tribunal has undergone sweeping changes under the interim government led by Chief Adviser Mohammed Yunus that include the appointment of new judges and prosecutors.

The contempt verdict comes just a day after prosecutors filed five charges of crimes against humanity against Hasina, including abetment, incitement, complicity, and conspiracy related to mass killings during the July–August 2024 unrest. Hasina denied all charges, calling them politically motivated.

In a statement issued from London, the now-banned Awami League, which Hasina continues, slammed the ruling as a "show trial," accusing the interim government of turning the ICT into a political tool.

BJP prez after PM's return from Brics

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

WITH organisational elections now completed in over a dozen states, there is a strong possibility that the BJP will announce the name of a consensus candidate as its next national president shortly after Prime Minister Narendra Modi returns from his foreign tour on July 9 or 10.

The process of organisational elections is over in most states. New state presidents were recently elected in Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, and other states. In key states such as Bihar, Sikkim, Goa, and Assam, new chiefs are already in place. The process will shortly conclude in the remaining states, including Uttar Pradesh.

Amid this process, the BJP has reportedly shortlisted five candidates, and the final selection is expected to take place between July 10 and 19, before the Monsoon session of parliament on July 21.

Among the shortlisted candidates are Union ministers Bhupendra Yadav, Dharmendra Pradhan, Prahlad Joshi, Nirmala Sitharaman, Vanathi Srinivasan, and BD Sharma. Bhupendra Yadav, considered one of the party's finest electoral managers for regional elections, is said to be the frontrunner. Yadav, who belongs to the OBC category, has played a key role in formulating electoral strategies for several state elections, including those in Maharashtra (2024), Uttar Pradesh (2017), and Bihar (2020).

Final selection likely before Monsoon session

Amid this process, the BJP has reportedly shortlisted five candidates, and the final selection is expected to take place between July 10 and 19, before the Monsoon session of parliament on July 21. New state presidents were recently elected in Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, and other states.

"If Yadav emerges as the consensus candidate, it will send a strong message ahead of the Bihar assembly election, where the Yadav community plays a crucial role in determining the outcome in over 70-90 constituencies," commented a BJP leader from Bihar.

Pradhan is viewed as the second strongest contender, owing to his strong connections with both the RSS and the party's organisational machinery.

Prahlad Joshi, hailing from South India, where the BJP is focusing its "Mission South" plan, is also seen as a possible consensus candidate. He is known for his electoral strategies and managing party affairs, particularly in South India.

The name of a woman leader, who also serves as the national president of the BJP Mahila Morcha, is also circulating as a potential candidate. Other prominent names include Arun Singh and Tarun Chugh (both national general secretaries), and Dr Sudha Yadav, who is reportedly trusted by both Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the RSS.

Khandelwal emphasised that fostering coordination between the government and the party organisation would be his priority. In Kolkata, a BJP leader said, "Since Bhattacharya was the sole candidate for the post and did not withdraw his nomination, he would be declared elected unopposed."

SC to hear Uddhav's plea on Sena name, symbol for local body polls

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday refused an early hearing to Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena (UBT) group plea on the allocation of 'bow and arrow' symbol for the ensuing Maharashtra local body elections. A bench of Justices M M Sundresh and K Vinod Chandran agreed to list it on July 14, when the court reopens after the summer vacation.

Senior lawyer, Devadatt Kamat, appearing for the UBT group, mentioned before the two-judge vacation bench that the local elections are going to be announced anytime next week in the state. "We are seeking some ad interim directions, like it was issued in the NCP (Nationalist Congress Party) matter. The symbol has been awarded to them (Eknath Shinde section)," he submitted.

Opposing the submissions, advocate for Eknath Shinde group, argued that two elections have been held. A similar case was mentioned earlier before Justice Surya Kant bench and it was rejected.

However, Kamat argued that Justice Kant-led bench had said the matter could be mentioned during the top court's partial court working days. Kamat said the plea seeks an interim arrangement similar to the one directed by the apex court in the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) symbol row case.

The SC observed, even if the election was notified, it was after all against the HC order.

Interjecting to this, Kamat replied, this was a symbol dispute. The matter was pending in the court for two years. "It is ultimately a question of people's choice," he said.

The top court, however, refused to give a date for early hearing into the case and said, if it was pending then no problem. No rights will go. What is the urgency?

It is to be noted that the Election Commission of India (ECI) in its order on February 17, 2023, decided that former Chief Minister Eknath Shinde's faction is the real Shiv Sena, and thereby it gave the original name and allotted it the 'bow and arrow' symbol, in terms of Symbols Order formulated by the poll panel, in exercise of its power under Article 324 of the Constitution read with Section 29A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

NHAI will tie up with Google Maps to chalk out routes with low toll charges

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) is working with Google Maps to introduce a new feature in its Rajmargyatra mobile application, which will suggest different routes, including an alternative with lowest toll charges to the motorists. This service will be available from next month. Officials said that the highway users would be at liberty to choose a route to reach a destination as per their convenience to save travelling time or toll fee.

"There are two best possible routes to reach Agra from Delhi. One can take the Yamuna Expressway or National Highway 44 (Mathura Road). The app will inform users which route will attract a lower toll," said officials.

Google Maps provides live traffic data and real-time GPS navigation for driving, walking, cycling and public transport. It also suggests routes with estimated toll charges. Moreover, it offers options to avoid tolls entirely or prioritise routes based on the preferences of the user. The move is being seen as another strategic attempt by the NHAI to increase downloads and usage of the Rajmargyatra app.

Link to activate, renew FASTag passes

A link for activation and renewal of annual FASTag pass for non-commercial private vehicles will be available on the app next month. It is also equipped with an inbuilt complaint redressal and escalation mechanism.

A dedicated link for activation and renewal of annual FASTag pass for non-commercial private vehicles will also be made available on the app next month.

In a transformative step towards hassle-free highway travel, Union Road Transport and Highways minister Nitin Gadkari last month announced the plan to launch a pass that will cost ₹3,000. It will be valid for one year from the date of activation or up to 200 trips, whichever is earlier.

"Adding annual pass activation and renewal link to Rajmargyatra is also to encourage people to download the app. The number of downloads has never been as per our expectations. With this new addition, we are hoping that more users will have the app in their mobile phones," said officials.

According to the ministry, till February, the Rajmargyatra App had a 4.4-star rating based on 12,000+ reviews with 3.48 lakh downloads on the Google Play Store and more than 74,000 phone users have downloaded through Apple Store.

The app was introduced about two year ago as a one-stop repository to improve user traveling experience as it offers real-time weather conditions, timely broadcast notifications, and access to details about nearby toll plazas, petrol pumps, hospitals, hotels, and other facilities for national highway users.

The app is also equipped with an inbuilt complaint redressal and escalation mechanism. Users can easily report highway-related issues, attaching geotagged videos or photos for better clarity.

High burn burden in India, 25k deaths/yr: Study

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIA faces a high burn burden with an estimated 2.1 million people suffering from injuries, 25,000 deaths, and 1.4 million disability-adjusted life years (DALYs) annually.

What is worrying is that the burn survivors not only face increased societal stigma in the form of bullying, staring, teasing, mocking, degradation, and labelling, but also witness daily discrimination at Indian healthcare institutions and from healthcare providers (HCPs), a latest study has said.

This lack of empathy from healthcare professionals leave them in emotional, physical, and psychological damage, particularly for patients with visible disfigurements or disability and those from underprivileged backgrounds, it said.

The study is the first of its kind globally which aims explicitly to assess stigma faced by burn patients in hospitals and healthcare settings.

Published in the Science Direct Burns journal, the study suggests that institutional neglect, under-resourced facilities, overburdened staff, and systemic failures in India's healthcare facilities are some of the reasons for burn patients receiving discriminatory and low-quality care.

- Study focuses on improving the long-term physical, psychological, and social impacts of burn injuries
- Survivors also mentioned experiencing medical gaslighting
- Says socio-economic status often overshadows medical needs

"Such attitudes led to feelings of shame among the patients, complicating their psychological well-being"

A study conducted in UP burn facilities

REASONS

- Institutional neglect
- Under-resourced facilities
- Staff overworked
- Systemic failures in India's healthcare facilities

The study conducted in Uttar Pradesh burn facilities said.

It added that even healthcare providers confessed to experiencing discomfort when treating burns, particularly if the patient had severe disfiguring burns or was new to the burn ward. Survivors also mentioned experiencing medical gaslighting, where their symptoms or concerns were dismissed or trivialised by HCPs, leading to feelings of distrust in the healthcare system.

According to Pratishtha Singh, The George Institute for Global Health, said, "Burn survivors, particularly women and poor people, receive blame and isolation and face neglect in hospitals. At the same time, overworked and under-supported healthcare staff struggle with burnout, which can lead to unintentional but harmful behaviour towards patients."

The study said "dehumanising experience made burn survivors fearful of returning to the hospital, where they may encounter judgment or stigma, deterring them from seeking essential follow-up care."

Patients also shared that their socio-economic status often overshadows their medical needs, resulting in dismissive and patronising attitudes from healthcare providers.

Maha face-off in House over farmer suicides, loan waiver

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

Opposition parties stage walkout from Maharashtra Assembly on Wednesday | X

THE treasury benches and the Opposition on Wednesday clashed in the Maharashtra assembly over the rise in farmers' suicides and demand for farm loan waiver. The Opposition twice staged a walk-out over the issue of farmer suicides. This newspaper reported on Tuesday that 767 farmers committed suicide in the state between January and March this year, and a majority of the cases happened in Vidarbha.

The Opposition upped the ante against the ruling MahaYuti, demanding farm loan waiver and a discussion in the House on farmers' suicides.

The treasury benches refused a discussion, saying the Speaker will decide on it after the Opposition issues a notice of motion. Intervening, Speaker Rahul Narvekar said he will consult both ruling and Opposition parties and hold discussion on the issue on Thursday.

NCP (SP) MLA and former minister Jayant Patil said the state government is paying lip service to the farmers' issue and running away from a discussion while Deputy chief minister Ajit Pawar asserted that his government is committed to the farmers' concerns.

"We are ready to discuss the farmers' issue, but the rule book should be followed," he said. "Our government always stands by the farmers. Agriculture is the backbone of our economy, and resolving the farmers' issue is our top priority," Pawar said.

Congress leader Vijay Wadettiwar said the BJP-led state government ignored the voice of the Opposition as it has a "brutal majority".

"We raised our voice, but the Speaker did not pay attention; therefore, we decided to walk out of the House in protest. During the assembly polls, the BJP and MahaYuti promised a farm loan waiver, but after coming to power, they forgot their promise. We will continue to raise our voice against the anti-farmer policies of the government and," Wadettiwar said.

He also accused the government of making false promises before elections about granting MSP 1.5 times the input cost. "Soybean and cotton growers have not received proper price for their produce," he said.

Wadettiwar also condemned agriculture minister Manikrao Kokate for allegedly calling farmers "beggars", and former minister Babanrao Lonikar for "insensitive and derogatory remarks" against farmers. "Instead of setting up committees, the government should act. Farmers do not want committees, they want relief," he said.

Tiger bones lift lid off Ranthambore poaching

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

ARE the tigers in Rajasthan's Ranthambore Tiger Reserve the latest targets of an international poaching syndicate? This disturbing possibility came to the fore after certain revelations following the arrests of a poaching module in Sheopur in Madhya Pradesh during a joint operation by Madhya Pradesh State Tiger Strike Force, the Rajasthan forest department, and Sawai Madhopur-based NGO Tiger Watch, last month.

Among those arrested were Dauji Bhil and Sunita Dauji, residents of Rajasthan's Dausa, and Besta Bhil, resident of Sheopur. The forest team recovered around 225 big cat bones, including skulls, from the possession of the accused.

The seized remains were sent to Jabalpur for forensic analysis, which confirmed that they belonged to at least three tigers and a panther. The samples have now been forwarded to the National Centre for Biological Sciences in Bengaluru for DNA matching to determine the origin of the animals.

Madhya Pradesh forest officials have formally requested the Rajasthan forest department to share DNA profiles of tigers from Ranthambore to assist in the matching process.

Due to its proximity to Sheopur, Ranthambore is the most likely source of the poached tigers. In contrast, Madhavgarh Tiger Reserve lies over 100 km away, and Panna Tiger Reserve is some 300 km from Sheopur.

According to official records, five tigers from Ranthambore — T79, T131, T138, T139, and T2401 — have gone missing under suspicious circumstances between June 2022 and May 2024. The missing animals include two females and three males, aged between 3 and 12 years.Sources also claim that during interrogation, the accused confessed to having killed five tigers from Ranthambore between 2022 and 2024.

The DNA matching process is expected to take few weeks. Once complete, it could conclusively establish whether Ranthambore's missing tigers fell victims to poachers – a finding that may have significant implications for wildlife protection efforts in the region.

Hawala networks

Officials suspect the module is part of a wider international poaching network with links to other tiger reserves across India, Nepal and Myanmar. It is believed that the group received payments through digital channels and hawala networks in exchange for illegal animal trade.

3 killed in wild elephant attacks across J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

A wild elephant, separated from its herd, went on the rampage near Nagari village in Jharkhand's Garhwa, crushing 60-year-old Vijay Singh to death late on Tuesday.

Tuskers are running wild in the region for the last few weeks, and have killed as many as three people in the last four days, besides damaging several properties and crops.

"An elephant separated from the herd entered Nagari village and demolished a house. In this incident, an elderly person sleeping inside the house died," a local informed, adding, while elephants are wreaking havoc in the region the forest department is silent over the issue.

Mystery illness grips Gujarat school, eye infection catches 120 students

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

Health, food safety & edu depts launch joint probe

With the cause still unidentified, state officials remain puzzled. Departments of health, food safety, and education have launched a joint probe, collecting water and food samples from the school and hostel premises. The samples have been sent to laboratories, with the authorities now awaiting results to pinpoint the source of outbreak.

A sudden and baffling health scare rocked the J M Desai Vidhyamandir School in Jhank village in Gujarat's Gandhinagar district where over 120 students have been struck by a mysterious eye condition, triggering a state-level medical response.

What began on June 30 with few isolated complaints of redness of the eyes, burning, irritation, and double-vision, quickly escalated, affecting 122 students out of the total 225 residing in the hostel.

Alarmed by the scale of the outbreak, the school rushed the affected students to Gandhinagar Civil Hospital for urgent care and screening.

"After taking a bath in the morning, my eyes felt slanted and everything appeared blurry. The words in my textbooks looked warped. Even water tasted bitter and I didn't feel like drinking it. I had to rush to the washroom repeatedly. That's when the school staff brought me to the hospital," a Class 10 student from the school informed local press.

Despite treatment, around 120 students still reportedly experienced symptoms as of Wednesday, keeping authorities on high alert.

Though most of the children have now been discharged, two remain under observation due to persistent discomfort.

The District Health Officer said, "Out of 225 students residing at the J M Vidyalaya hostel in Jhank village, 122 complained of eye irritation, redness, itching, blurred and double-vision on Monday. A team led by District Epidemic Control Officer Dr Jignesh Asari immediately conducted health check-ups at the Kadadara Primary Health Center."

Dr Ankur Jhalawadia, Dean of Gandhinagar Medical College, said, "To determine the cause, gastric lavage samples have been sent to the FSL, while blood and urine samples have been sent to Choline Esterase Laboratory. The results, expected in two days, will confirm if poisoning is involved."

AFTERMATH OF WAR

IRAN SNAPS TIES WITH U.N. NUKE WATCHDOG

DUBAI

IRAN's president on Wednesday ordered the country to suspend its cooperation with the International Atomic Energy Agency after American and Israeli airstrikes hit its most-important nuclear facilities, likely further limiting inspectors' ability to track Tehran's programme that had been enriching uranium to near weapons-grade levels.

The order by President Masoud Pezeshkian included no timetables or details about what that suspension would entail. Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi signaled in a CBS News interview that Tehran still would be willing to continue negotiations with the United States. "I don't think negotiations will restart as quickly as that," Araghchi said, referring to US President Donald Trump's comments that talks could start as early as this week. However, he added: "The doors of diplomacy will never slam shut."

Iran has limited IAEA inspections in the past as a pressure tactic in negotiating with the West — though as of right now Tehran has denied that there's any immediate plans to resume talks with the United States that had been upended by the 12-day Iran-Israel war.

Iranian state television announced Pezeshkian's order, which followed a law passed by Iran's parliament to suspend that cooperation. The bill already received the approval of Iran's constitutional watchdog, the Guardian Council, on Thursday, and likely the support of the country's Supreme National Security Council, which Pezeshkian chairs.

A diplomat with knowledge of IAEA operations, who spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss the situation in Iran, said that IAEA inspectors were still there after the announcement and hadn't been told by the government to leave.

Iran's decision drew an immediate condemnation from Israeli Foreign Minister Gideon Saar. "Iran has just issued a scandalous announcement about suspending its cooperation with the IAEA," he said in an X post. "This is a complete renunciation of all its international nuclear obligations and commitments."Iran's move so far stops short of what experts feared the most.

They feared Tehran might quit the IAEA, leave the NPT, and race toward a bomb. AP

Hamas open for truce, Netanyahu says no deal

Israel insists on barring Hamas from postwar Gaza as both brace for US-backed peace talks

CAIRO

HAMAS and Israel staked out their positions Wednesday ahead of expected talks on a Washington-backed ceasefire proposal, with the militant group suggesting it was open to an agreement while the Israeli prime minister vowed "there will be no Hamas" in postwar Gaza. Both stopped short of accepting the proposal announced by US President Donald Trump on Tuesday. Hamas insisted on its longstanding position that any deal bring an end to the war in Gaza.

Trump said Tuesday that Israel had agreed on terms for a 60-day ceasefire in Gaza and urged Hamas to accept the deal before conditions worsen. The US leader has been increasing pressure on the Israeli government and Hamas to broker a ceasefire, and hostage agreement and bring about an end to the war. Trump said the 60-day period would be used to work toward ending the war — something Israel says it won't accept until Hamas is defeated. He said that a deal might come together as soon as next week.

But Hamas' response, which emphasized its demand that the war end, raised questions about whether the latest offer could materialise into an actual pause in fighting.

Hamas official Taher al-Nunu said that the militant group was "ready and serious regarding reaching an agreement." He said Hamas was "ready to accept any initiative that clearly leads to the complete end to the war."

A Hamas delegation is expected to meet with Egyptian and Qatari mediators in Cairo on Wednesday to discuss the proposal, according to an Egyptian official. The official spoke on condition of anonymity, because he wasn't authorised to discuss the talks with the media. Throughout the nearly 21-month-long war, ceasefire talks between Israel and Hamas have repeatedly faltered over whether the war should end as part of any deal.

Hamas said in a brief statement Wednesday that it had received a proposal from the mediators and is holding talks with them to "bridge gaps" to return to the negotiating table to try to reach a ceasefire agreement. Hamas has said that it's willing to free the remaining 50 hostages, less than half of whom are said to be alive, in exchange for a complete Israeli withdrawal from Gaza and an end to the war.

Israel says it will only agree to end the war if Hamas surrenders, disarms and exiles itself, something the group refuses to do. "I am announcing to you — there will be no Hamas," Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said during a speech Wednesday. AP

Friedrich Merz under fire over pride flag ban

BERLIN: German Chancellor Friedrich Merz faced backlash for opposing the rainbow flag at the Bundestag during Berlin's July 26 pride parade, calling the parliament "not a circus tent." The new parliament president limited the flag's display to one day annually, reversing the previous practice. LGBTQ activists and opposition parties condemned the move, saying the flag symbolizes human rights and diversity. Merz defended the decision, insisting only the German and EU flags should be flown on other days.

PARAMOUNT TO PAY TRUMP $16M OVER '60 MINUTES'

WASHINGTON

IN a case seen as a challenge to free speech, Paramount has agreed to pay $16 million to settle a lawsuit filed by President Donald Trump over the editing of CBS' "60 Minutes" interview with then-Vice President Kamala Harris in October.

Paramount told media outlets the money will go to Trump's future presidential library, not to the president himself. It said the settlement did not involve an apology.

Trump's lawyer said the president had suffered "mental anguish" over the editing of the interview by CBS News, while Paramount and CBS rejected his contention that it was edited to enhance how Harris sounded. They had sought to get Trump's lawsuit dismissed. There was no immediate word from the White House about the settlement of the case, which Trump filed in Amarillo, Texas. The case has been closely watched by advocates for press freedom and by journalists within CBS, whose lawyers called Trump's lawsuit "completely without merit" and promised to vigorously fight it after it was filed.

In early February, "60 Minutes" released a full, unedited transcript of the interview. Under the settlement reached with help of a mediator, Paramount agreed that "60 Minutes" will release transcripts of future interviews of presidential candidates, "subject to redactions as required for legal and national security concerns," CBS News cited the statement as saying. Trump, who skipped a "60 Minutes" interview during the campaign, protested edits showing Harris giving two different answers to the same question. CBS said both replies came from her long answer and were edited for clarity. AP

Foxconn recalls Chinese engineers from India

China calls back nearly 300 nationals over past 2 months, leaving primarily support personnel from Taiwan in India

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FOXCONN Technology Group, the Taiwanese contract manufacturer of iPhones, has reportedly recalled hundreds of Chinese engineers and technicians from its factories in India.

As per a report, China has called back nearly 300 of its nationals from India over the past two months, leaving primarily support personnel from Taiwan still stationed in the country. While the report does not specify the exact reasons behind the move, it is believed to be linked to China's broader efforts to restrict technology transfers and curb exports of advanced manufacturing equipment to India. The decision could potentially disrupt iPhone assembly lines at Foxconn's key manufacturing hubs in Tamil Nadu and Karnataka, ahead of launch of iPhone 17 in months.

Foxconn, one of Apple's largest contract manufacturers, announced in May 2025 that it would invest $1.5 billion into its Indian operations, with a particular focus on expanding the production of display modules for iPhones.

Officially known as Hon Hai Technology Group, Foxconn began producing iPhones in India in 2019 and has significantly ramped up its capacity since then — especially following production delays in China during the COVID-19 pandemic in 2022. Apple has been working closely with Foxconn to expand Indian facilities and increase local production, including newer iPhone models.

Despite these efforts, production in India still heavily depends on Chinese engineers and a smaller number of Taiwanese expatriates, as well as specialised equipment imported from China. Foxconn and its equipment partners have deployed hundreds of managers, engineers, and technicians to India to oversee manufacturing processes and tool maintenance.

In FY 2024–25, Apple assembled iPhones worth $14 billion in India — accounting for roughly one in every seven iPhones produced globally — through facilities operated by Foxconn, Pegatron, and India's Tata Group. Between March and May 2025, Foxconn exported 97% of its India-made iPhones to the U.S. market, amounting to $3.2 billion in exports. In May 2025, Apple CEO Tim Cook announced that a majority of iPhones sold in the US during the April–June quarter would be manufactured in India — a milestone in Apple's efforts to diversify its supply chain beyond China.

Microsoft to lay off 9K employees, 4% of global workforce

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IN another round of layoff, American technology conglomerate Microsoft is expected to fire nearly 9,000 employees. This is the second mass layoff by the company in months.

According to reports, this layoff will affect less than 4% of the company's global workforce. Microsoft employed 228,000 full-time workers as of last June, the last time it reported its annual headcount.

Microsoft said the manpower reduction will affect multiple teams around the world, including its sales division and its Xbox video game business. "We continue to implement organisational changes necessary to best position the company and teams for success in a dynamic marketplace," the company said in a statement.

Microsoft also cut another 300 workers based out of its Redmond, Washington headquarters in June, on top of nearly 2,000 who lost their jobs in the Puget Sound region in May, according to notices it sent to Washington state employment officials.

In May, it had lain off of 6,000 employees or 3% of its total employees across levels and geographies and many employees were asked to leave immediately. This comes at a time when the company is implementing organisational changes. In January 2023, Microsoft had fired 10,000 or less than 5% of its total employee base globally through the third quarter of FY23- March 31. In 2023, many companies including Amazon, Alphabet and Salesforce had reduced headcounts. Microsoft had said that customers are optimising their digital spend to do more with less, and that the company would align cost structure with revenue and where it sees customer demand.

IT hiring in tier-2 cities witness 53% growth in June

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE country's tier-2 cities continue to emerge as key engines driving the nation's employment growth, according to the latest foundit Insights Tracker. It said Coimbatore (26%), Nagpur (24%), and Nasik (24%) are leading this growth, driven by sectors such as IT, BFSI, Manufacturing, and FMCG.

The IT industry has seen exceptional growth in tier-2 cities, jumping 53% YoY, far ahead of national average of 30%. "The hiring momentum shift towards tier-2 cities, especially in IT and entry-level roles, is notable. Job seekers have diverse opportunities closer to home, reflecting India's rich and varied talent landscape. For employers, these cities offer strategic opportunities for sustained growth, driven by improved infrastructure, targeted investments, and the strategic intent to diversify geographically," said Pranay Kale, chief revenue & growth officer (CRGO) of foundit.

"This growth, the strongest we've seen in recent years, clearly underlines tier-2 cities' increasing importance in India's employment landscape," he added. Naukri too in its report points out that after nearly a year of subdued hiring activity, the IT sector posted a 5% YoY growth in June 2025.This turnaround was largely powered by tier-II cities, with Baroda (14%), Coimbatore (10%), Kochi (9%), and Ahmedabad (8%) emerging as key hubs.

Fresher hiring was up 11% YoY in June, led by non-IT sectors, as per Naukri. Hospitality (40%), oil & gas (29%), and real estate (25%) drove this growth, along with strong traction in healthcare, the report said.

US imposes 20% tariff on imports from Vietnam

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

EVEN as India is entering the last leg of discussions with the US for an interim trade deal with the country, US President Donald Trump on Wednesday unveiled a new bilateral tariff agreement with Vietnam that effectively rolls back two decades of trade liberalisation under the landmark 2000 US-Vietnam bilateral trade agreement (BTA).

Under the fresh pact, all US exports to Vietnam will now enjoy duty-free access. But in return, Vietnamese goods entering the US market will face a flat 20% import tariff, a steep jump from the 2-10% range established under the earlier BTA. This threatens to disrupt Vietnam's booming export flow to the US, which soared from $800 million in 2001 to over $135 billion today, largely on the back of the concessional duties.

Trade analysts warn that the new tariff regime not only undermines Vietnam's competitiveness but also sets a troubling precedent. "This move disregards the legal and economic framework that has governed US-Vietnam trade for nearly two decades," said a Global Trade Research Initiative (GTRI) expert. Even more contentious is a 40% tariff on transshipped goods, products originally manufactured in a third country, like China, but routed through Vietnam. The US administration argues this is necessary to close loopholes that allow Chinese goods to bypass existing tariffs. However, experts point out that transshipment does not change the product's origin under international trade norms, making such a tariff potentially WTO-inconsistent and legally unsound.

"Imposing a duty based purely on the shipping route is both arbitrary and opens up scope for disputes," GTRI noted in a briefing.

The new deal fails to establish clear Rules of Origin, leaving ambiguity around goods partially made in China but finished in Vietnam, a common feature of global value chains.

HDB makes stellar debut, becomes 8th most valuable NBFC with ₹70K cr m-cap

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

HDB Financial Services, non-banking lending arm of HDFC Bank, on Wednesday made a stellar market debut on Wednesday despite a bleeding market, emerging as the eighth most valuable NBFC. The company's shares listed at a 13% premium over issue price of ₹740.

The stock opened at ₹840 and had touched a high of ₹851.40 before closing at ₹840.90, up 13.55% on the NSE, valuing the firm at ₹69,625 crore at close. The broader market bled through the day and closed with 0.35% loss each after losing close to 1% intra-day.

Last week when the company hit the market with a ₹12,500 crore IPO, it was the largest NBFC primary share sale in the NBFC space. The issue consisted of ₹10,000 crore of offer for sale by the HDFC Bank, which held 93.45% in the company pre-issue and is now down to 75%.

The issue window, which remained open between June 25-27, saw robust demand with a subscription of nearly 16.7 times, was prompted by an October 2022 RBI direction that mandated all upper layer non-banks to get listed.

Bajaj Finance remains the most valuable shadow bank with a market capitalisation in excess of ₹5.81 lakh crore, followed by Jio Financial Services and Cholamandalam Investment and Finance Company, valued at ₹2.08 lakh crore and ₹1.37 lakh crore, respectively.

Others include Shriram Finance (₹1.33L cr), Muthoot Finance (₹1.06L cr), SBI Cards & Payment Services (₹90,481 cr), and Aditya Birla Capital (₹72,200 cr).

Switch to real time data: RBI to credit bureaus

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

STATING that quicker relaying of data from credit bureaus will help deepen public trust, efficiency and transparency in the financial system, the senior-most deputy governor of the Reserve Bank, M Rajeshwar Rao, has asked credit information companies like Transunion Cibil to switch to real-time data reporting from the fortnightly model being followed now.

"We must aspire to more frequent updates. Real-time or near-real-time credit reporting will improve underwriting precision, enable timely reflection of borrower actions like loan closures or repayments and deliver a superior consumer experience," Rao said.

Admitting that this entails costs because of investments in technology, process reengineering, and change management, Rao underlined that the benefits will far outweigh costs.

2-wheeler exports record sharp rise in June on demand from key markets

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC two-wheeler exports continue to remain strong, bolstered by rising demand in key overseas markets such as Africa, Latin America, and ASEAN. The surge in demand for made-in-India bikes and scooters is driven by a strong economic recovery in these regions. Meanwhile, domestic sales continue to show steady growth for most major manufacturers.

According to June 2025 sales data, Baja Auto, India's largest exporter of two-wheelers, recorded a jump of 18% year-on-year in exports to 149,167 units. TVS Motors' two-wheeler exports grew by an impressive 58% to 104,686 units in June 2025 from 66,434 units in June 2024. Hero MotoCorp's export skyrocketed 140% to 28,827 units in June 2025 while Royal Enfield saw its export grow by 79% to 12,583 units last month. Honda Motorcycle & Scooter saw a jump of around 10% in exports to 40,335 units.

"Sales for original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) got a strong boost from major exports growth. Exports grew by 18% for Bajaj Auto, 140% for Hero Motocorp, 79% for Royal Enfield (RE) and 58% for TVS. TVS and RE continued to shine in domestic sales as well, with double-digit growth," said Asit C Mehta Investment Interrmediates research team in a note.

It added that a good monsoon, easing inflation, lower interest rates, and healthy agri output are expected to keep supporting the segment's growth. "While new EV launches may have the potential to excite the market, the issue of rare earth magnet availability is looming close, and unless resolved, can have a large near-term hit on vehicle production," stated the brokerage and research firm.

Two-wheeler exports from India saw a double-digit growth in FY25 after registering steep decline in FY23 and FY24. As per Siam data, total two-wheeler exports grew by 21.4% in FY25 to 41,97,517 units compared to 34,58,416 units in FY24.

Merger and acquisition activities soar 50% to $61.3 billion in first half of 2025

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE domestic deal street remained strong through the first half of 2025, with total deal value reaching $61.3 billion, up 50% from the same period last year, the highest since 2022, according to a market data.

The number of transactions rose 9%, reflecting sustained market momentum, indicating high-value deals getting closed as the deal value soared 50% year-on-year to $61.3 billion, as per the data compiled by LSEG Deals Intelligence. This activity has been driven by a mix of domestic consolidation, energy transition, and strategic portfolio realignment.

Financial sponsors played a key role, particularly in sectors like insurance, technology, and healthcare, Elaine Tan, senior manager at LSEG Deals Intelligence, said on Wednesday.

Energy and power led the way with $20.5 billion in deals, representing a over 16-fold rise YoY, accounting for 33.4% market share. Financials totalled $8.8 billion, up 54.3%, capturing 14.4% market share and healthcare came next with 10.6% market share and value totalling $6.5 billion, up 73.6% from a year ago, Tan said.

Target India M&As reached $55 billion, up 48% of this domestic M&As grew 138% to $44.8 billion, the highest first half total since 2022. But inbound M&As fell to a nine-year low amounting to $10.1 billion, down 45%. However outbound M&As reached $5.8 billion, up 74%. The US was the most active nation doing cross-border deals with India.

Private equity-backed M&As amounted to $11.6 billion, up 85.7%, the highest first half total since 2022. Meanwhile, the equity capital markets showed solid momentum in 2025, even though overall activity moderated from last year's record pace. IPOs raised $5.9 billion, up 21%, the highest H1 since records began in 1980. This is in spite of the fact that the number of IPOs fell 31% YoY. Meanwhile, investment bankers earned $653.8 million in estimated fees during the first half of 2025, up 21%. Of this, ECM underwriting fees reached $272.7 million, up 3%; DCM underwriting fees totaled $131.7 million, a 9% increase, syndicated lending fees jumped 66% to $90.1 million and M&A advisory fees jumped 56% to $159.3 million.

BATMAN & SHUBERMAN: GILL LEADS FROM FRONT

Captain's unbeaten ton keeps visitors in game on Day 1 of 2nd Test

India captain Shubman Gill celebrates his century against England in Edgbaston | AP

TWO days before Shubman Gill walked out for the toss and said India opted to strengthen the batting depth even more for the second Test against England, assistant coach Ryan ten Doeschate was asked about the lower-order collapses.

The former Dutch captain, in his response, said: "We have (thought about it). When you are 430/3, it is absolutely fine, but when you are 200/5, it is a very different ball game. We are trying to figure it out."

Cut to Wednesday, on a sunny Birmingham afternoon with a pitch not doing much for the bowlers. Ten Doeschate's worst fear came true as the visitors, having gone in with three all-rounders to pad up their depth at the cost of a specialist batter and a wicket-taking bowler, were in fact 211/5 after tea.

Their primary seam-bowling batting all-rounder, Nitish Reddy, had just left alone a Chris Woakes delivery. It came back in off the seam to disturb the stumps. India had lost the first of three all-rounders for just one run and were staring at another collapse. This time, perhaps, even a worse one than that of Headingley where they had at least crossed 400 runs before crumbling. Here, their only hope of that not happening was the Gill.

Having come in at the stroke of lunch, Gill had shown restraint and patience like never before. He knew very well that there were no demons on the surface even though Ben Stokes had opted to bowl first. He also knew that the only way this team becomes his own is if he continues to set the tone with the bat.

It helped that Yashasvi Jaiswal had done his bit when Gill walked in. The left-hander had his fair share of half chances in the first hour, but had made the most of it. He took on everything that was thrown at him, including the hard lengths, directed at his body. Jaiswal, against a packed off-side field, often created room to slash or cut the ball through gully. As many as four boundaries came through the third-man region and three more through point.

Jaiswal's approach meant Gill could take all the time in the world to get his eye in. He had made some minor adjustments to counter Woakes' seam like batting outside the crease, but against Carse, Gill stayed behind and played with an open bat face. Anything that was full and in his zone was met on the front foot with full face of the bat and anything that was marginally short was cut with ease behind square.

Gill had no trouble working singles on the leg side to keep the scoreboard moving and when England did go short, it ended being an easy get away. Jaiswal fell for 87 from 107 balls, slashing at a nothing delivery from Stokes, Rishabh Pant jumped out of the crease and into the trap laid by Shoaib Bashir to be caught at long-on, but Gill wasn't going anywhere.

He chipped away at England a single here, a two there and an occasional boundary time-to-time. First came the fifty, his slowest ever. Then came the crowing moment with a sweep of Joe Root off his 199th ball — a second century in third innings as India captain. This time, he roared even louder than Headingley before bowing down and taking in all the applause. It was a century to savour and cherish, but the job is only half done. For India will need a lot more than 310/5 they are currently on.

Words not aligning with actions for coach Gambhir's new-look team

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

India's all-rounder Nitish Kumar Reddy being cleaned up by England's Chris Woakes on Day One of the second Test at Edgbaston on Wednesday | AFP

THIS weekend, Villa Park, a few miles from Edgbaston, will host Black Sabbath, the rock band who made heavy metal an international obsession. For a decade, that was the sound the Indian management wanted their bowlers to generate.

Not anymore it would seem.

Before the five-match series between India and England began, skipper Shubman Gill said he would pick a bowling unit capable of plotting the fastest route to 20 wickets. Coach Gautam Gambhir had said the same thing. After the first Test loss at Headingley, both Gill and Gambhir re-emphasised their desire of selecting a bowling unit capable of it. In the first Test, they went without Kuldeep Yadav, a left-arm wrist-spinner capable of taking the surface out of the equation. In the second Test, they outdid themselves. In the week leading upto the game at an increasingly warm Edgbaston, the messaging was homogenous. "We are a team which will prioritise picking 20 wickets as soon as possible."

Yet, on Wednesday morning when Gill handed over the team sheet, it didn't resonate with the team's messaging. Jasprit Bumrah? Absent. Yadav? absent. Make it make sense because the bowling unit the visitors named didn't have lots of it. It lacked the two things the visitors had that the hosts lacked.

A supreme fast bowler who will take the new ball in every fantasy Test XI this side of the century. And the best wrist-spinner in the game currently. Without these two potent threats, India's bowlers, through no fault of theirs, may be doing a thankless job over the course of the Test. Prasidh Krishna, Mohammed Siraj, Akash Deep, Ravindra Jadeja, Washington Sundar, and Nitish Reddy will be the six bowlers tasked with the ask of picking 20 wickets.

Or, in other words, pacer who wouldn't be playing if all of them were fit, regular pacer, reserve pacer, spinning all-rounder who picks a wicket every 17 overs in England, reserve spinning all-rounder and reserve to Shardul Thakur. Even if it was a selection designed to maximise batting depth, they did it by removing the batter the management identified as the No. 3 (Sai Sudharsan) before the series began. They promoted the No. 6 (Karun Nair) to be the new No. 3, a position he has batted fewer than 20 times in a career spanning over 10 years. Again, make it make sense.

A young captain is allowed to make mistakes. All captains are allowed to make mistakes, especially some one who's skippering the team for just the second time. Former Arsenal coach, Arsene Wenger, famously remarked that you pay for the education of young players with points. But the sin is not even believing in your own words. After making it clear that the stated aim was to bowl out the opposition cheaply, you don't say: "we were very tempted to play him (Yadav), but, you know, looking at the last match, we wanted to add a bit of depth in the batting, and that's what we have done," at the toss.

If, after aggregating 830 runs across two innings, you want more 'batting depth', the thinking can only be muddled from the very top. Either that or after a decade of prioritising wickets, India are after a cultural reset, one where playing safe would be the mantra over being brave. As soon as the team sheet dropped, former players had to do a double take. On Sky, Nasser Hussain called it a 'panic' move. Ravi Shastri used the word 'baffling'. Other commentators used similar words to describe the XI.

On X, Tom Moody said 'the fixation on all-rounders who are there to offer depth with bat and ball has never worked. Specialists are always going to offer more over a Test'.

In 2021, even after India were bowled out for 78 at Headingley, then captain Virat Kohli maintained that he wouldn't consider having an insurance policy to guard against blowouts. "If you don't have the ability or the resources of taking 20 wickets going into a Test, then you are only playing for two results. That's not how we play." Throughout that away series and right through Kohli's reign as skipper, he walked the talk.

Gambhir has shown an inclination to sacrifice pure wicket-takers for a few extra runs. If Gill and Gambhir truly believe in what they preach, it's time for them to show it in action.

Amanjot helps India take 2-0 lead

ENS @ Chennai

WHEN Amanjot Kaur walked out to bat at No 5 in the second T20I against England at Bristol on Tuesday, it was the highest she had ever batted for India in the format. In the eight innings, Amanjot had batted anywhere between No 6 to 8, predominantly as a bowling all-rounder. So as she joined Jemimah Rodrigues in the middle, especially after India lost their skipper Harmanpreet Kaur in the last over of the powerplay, the duo had a mountain to climb. The scoreboard read 31/3 in 5.1 overs and India needed a big total to defend.

However, Rodrigues and Amanjot were not ready to throw in the towel yet. The duo did what they do best every time they bat in domestic cricket. In the next 55 balls, they added 93 runs with the former bringing up her fifty. By the time Rodrigues got out after a 41-ball 63, India had reached 124/4 in 14.2 overs. The battle, however, was not over and the visitors needed a final push. It came from Amanjot and Richa Ghosh as they accumulated 57 runs in 34 balls, taking India to 181/4.

Amanjot, having posted her first T20I fifty and a high score of an unbeaten 40-ball 63, laid the foundation for India's defence, dismissing Nat Sciver-Brunt. Brief scores: India 181/4 in 20 ovs (Rodrigues 63, Amanjot 63 n.o) bt England 157/7 in 20 ovs (Beaumont 54; Shree Charani 2/28).

BREAKOUT tournament star Gonzalo Garcia scored his third goal of the Club World Cup to power Real Madrid past Juventus 1-0 in the round of 16 and into the quarterfinals. Garcia has started all four of Real Madrid's matches because of a gastrointestinal illness to star striker Kylian Mbappe. The 21-year-old broke a second-half tie with a header in the 54th minute on Tuesday, giving him a goal contribution in every match of the tournament.

Garcia subbed out in the 68th as Mbappe checked in, making his Club World Cup debut after he was briefly hospitalized with the illness. He missed Real Madrid's three group stage matches. Garcia's header Tuesday came after Real Madrid had forced Juventus goalkeeper Michele Di Gregorio into consecutive spectacular saves in the opening minutes of the second half. It was an incredible performance from the Italian goalie, whose 10 saves kept the match close.

Under-fire Marquez quits as India football coach

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

EMBATTLED India football head coach Manolo Marquez stepped down on Wednesday after reaching a "mutual agreement" with the All Indian Football Federation (AIFF), which was under pressure to fix accountability for the recent downward spiral of the national team. The AIFF Executive Committee, in its meeting here, agreed to relieve Marquez after he expressed his desire to do so despite one year still left in his contract.

"The AIFF and Manolo decided to mutually part ways without any financial implications to any of the two parties. So, he is relieved from being India coach. The AIFF will shortly advertise for the post of head coach," AIFF deputy secretary general K Satyanarayana told PTI.

The Spaniard was appointed as head coach in June 2024 for a two-year tenure. He worked in a dual role last year as he was also the head coach of Indian Super League side FC Goa in 2024-25 season. India lost 0-1 to lower-ranked Hong Kong in an away match of the AFC Asian Cup qualifiers on June 10, which left the country in danger of missing out on qualifying for the continental showpiece in 2027. India logged just one win from their last eight matches under Marquez's tutelage, the lone victory coming vs Maldives in March.

The World No. 2 had battled to a five-set win over 38-year-old Italian Fabio Fognini in a first-round clash lasting over four hours on Monday.

He once again looked below his best, taking two hours and 17 minutes to subdue the 733rd-ranked Tarvet, who produced flashes of his emerging talent to delight the partisan crowd.

"First of all I have to give big praise to Oliver. In his second match on the tour, I just loved his game to be honest," Alcaraz said. "I knew I had to play my best tennis. I was really happy with my performance but big praise to him as well."

Alcaraz has won his past 20 matches since losing to Holger Rune in the Barcelona final in April, a blistering streak that has brought him titles at the Rome Masters, the French Open and Queen's Club.

The 22-year-old Spaniard, who fought back from two sets down to beat Jannik Sinner on clay in an epic final at Roland Garros last month, has won 31 of his 34 Tour-level matches on grass. His last defeat at Wimbledon came against Sinner in the fourth round in 2022. Having vanquished Novak Djokovic in the past two Wimbledon finals, Alcaraz is looking to join an elite group of Wimbledon icons. In sharp contrast to Alcaraz, Tarvet, a student of the University of San Diego, has to maintain amateur status and will have to give up most of his earnings. As a student of the University of San Diego, the 21-year-old has to maintain amateur status and will have to give up most of his earnings.

Nole thanks magic pills

Novak Djokovic thanked "doctors' miracle pills" after he overcame feelings of discomfort and the loss of a set to launch his mission to win a record 25th Grand Slam.

The veteran Serb, a seven-time winner at the All England Club, beat French World No. 41 Alexandre Muller 6-1, 6-7 (7), 6-2, 6-2 in a late-night match on Centre Court.

Djokovic dominated the first set, breaking three times, but Muller levelled the match after taking the second set tie-break. The sixth seed resumed normal service in the third set and a couple of breaks in the fourth set sealed the deal.

"I enjoyed myself, obviously a bit less in the second set but I went from feeling my absolute best for a set and a half to my absolute worst for about 45 minutes," he said.

"Whether it was a stomach bug, I don't know what it is.

"I struggled with that but the energy came back after some doctors' miracle pills and I managed to finish the match on a good note."

Djokovic said he was delighted to be back at Wimbledon.

"I have to acknowledge the sacredness of this court, of this tournament," he said.

The row surrounding Prada's Kolhapuri chappal-inspired footwear on the runway and its other highly popular wired basket-bag highlights how luxury labels borrow indigenous traditions without acknowledgement. Designers and stylists weigh in on whether luxury labels exploit or elevate traditional Indian crafts

JAYA KUMARI, personal stylist

WHAT Prada did was exploit the craft. 'Leather flat sandals' does not give any credit to the community in Kolhapur that makes these products. Most luxury brands don't. Recently, dupattas were being endorsed as Scandinavian scarves. They've been doing this with a lot of our clothing and crafts. Also, it's a shame that our people don't understand the significance of Indian crafts and textiles like Phulkari or Chikankari, opting for knock-offs or fast fashion brands. Instead of just expressing outrage at a brand, people also need to learn about these crafts and include a few of these in their wardrobes.

AKANKSHA CHHABRA,
co-founder of Pastels and Pop

ON one hand, it's incredible to see Indian designs influencing global fashion, especially a name like Prada. On the other, it's disappointing to see that there was no acknowledgement of the origin of the craft and the communities that have kept it alive for generations. Kolhapuri artisans are hardly making any money out of the craft. When a brand like Prada does this, with a price of ₹1.2 lakh, the least they could do is speak about them on their platform. Unfortunately, this is not a rare case. Many such big luxury brands use our textiles without giving due credit. The latest controversy will act as a channel to address the issue collectively.

LEAD PICS: PRADA INSTAGRAM AND WEBSITE

AS photos from Italian luxury brand Prada's Spring/Summer 2026 show in Milan flooded the Internet, one particular shot of a model sporting slippers that looked practically identical to the GI-tagged Kolhapuri sandals caught the eye of netizens. Watching these culturally-ubiquitous chappals worn by Indians across class and regional lines being sold by a foreign brand for a whopping ₹1.2 lakh soon led to accusations of cultural appropriation

Karnataka minister Priyank Kharge also took to social media to point out the state's role in producing this distinctive style of footwear, with regions like Belagavi, Dharwad, and Bagalkot being major production hubs. As the stir continues to engulf Prada even after they admitted the source of 'inspiration' for their leather flat sandals, CE asks designers and stylists across the country: Do luxury labels elevate or exploit traditional Indian crafts?

MAYANK MODI,
fashion designer

INDIANS had almost forgotten Kolhapuri chappals, and now, with the Prada show and surrounding controversy, they may think, 'Why not wear them too?' I don't blame the label because designers need inspiration for their work. We get inspired by the tuxedos, while it is the bandhgala jacket for international designers. It's alright as long as proper credit is given to the origin, and since that has been done now, I think the publicity is great for Indian footwear makers.

TINA VINCENT,
fashion designer

I am happy that Indian craftsmen are getting a boost internationally, be it the chappal or the wire bag. Our artisans deserve recognition, and I am glad luxury labels are elevating our Indian artisans. I do not begrudge them and their price points because, as a company, they will have their campaigns and overheads, which make them an international brand to reckon with.

SREEJITH JEEVAN,
designer and founder of Rouka

RAMESH MENON,
fashion consultant

WHAT Prada has done is brilliant in its way. The online uproar over them not crediting the craft isn't entirely valid, unless they had called it a 'Kolhapuri chappal', which they didn't. So, accusing them of appropriation needs a closer look. Many Indians have worn Kolhapuris for decades without knowing much about the craft. If anything, Prada's version has reignited attention. This can be used constructively. Ironically, many Indian brands have already been producing Kolhapuri-inspired footwear without involving traditional artisans, and often sell it under completely different names. Why this outrage when a Western luxury house does it?

ANUPAMAA DAYAL,
fashion designer

MANY of India's crafts are alive and thriving. They are easy to access, and not much official or legal framework surrounds them. This makes them an easy plunder ground for larger luxury labels. This is also true of independent, smaller designers, as I recently experienced my label, 'Anupamaa', being a victim of plagiarism by an Argentinian brand. Exploitation cannot ever be considered elevation. Sans acknowledgement and appreciation where it's due, the intention of violation leaves poor energy all around. The Prada issue is a good opportunity for our policymakers to address the issue of appropriate protection.

VINO SUPRAJA,
ethical fashion designer and sustainability advocate

I don't think the price tag is the issue here — luxury has its economy. The real concern is when heritage crafts, such as Kolhapuri chappals, are used without crediting the communities behind them. These are not just designs, they're cultural legacies passed down through generations. If a global brand finds value in that, the artisans deserve to be part of the narrative, not as footnotes but as collaborators. The same applies to the wire baskets. I understand the appeal of their form and texture, but simply placing a luxury label on them without context erases their origin. Fashion has immense power to elevate, but actual elevation means acknowledging the hands that make, not just the name that sells.

WHEN a design is inspired by a traditional craft, it deserves to be credited, and in the latest case, it's not just another leather sandal. The resemblance to the Kolhapuri sandal is undeniable. Giving due credit and ensuring the local artisans behind such crafts benefit from it isn't just respectful, it's the ethical thing to do. While the current hype may bring indirect attention and possibly some benefits to artisans, it's an incomplete form of recognition. The craft must be acknowledged for what it truly is.

What is the difference between a full-body workout and split routines? Which one should I opt for?

A full-body workout targets all the major muscle groups – legs, back, chest, arms, shoulders and core – in a single workout session. It's ideal for busy professionals or anyone who can only train 2-3 times a week.

- They help build overall strength, improve muscle coordination and burn calories in one go.

ASK AN XPERT

- Split routines divide your workouts by muscle groups, like training the upper body on one day, lower body the next, or even isolating chest, back, and legs on different days.
- These work well if you're advanced or training 4-6 days a week, as they allow you to focus intensely on specific areas and give muscles more time to recover.
- If you're just starting out or want general fitness, full-body workouts are efficient.
- If your goal is muscle definition, strength gains, or body sculpting and you can train frequently, split routines can offer targeted progress.
- Remember, the best workout is the one you can stick to consistently.

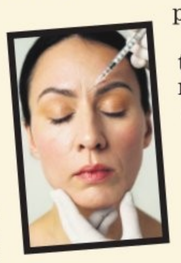
INJECTING CONFIDENCE, IGNORING WARNINGS

In pursuit of flawless skin, youngsters are turning to anti-ageing treatments, without knowing what's really at stake

DARSHITA JAIN

We live in a time where ageing gracefully is no longer just about wisdom lines and silver strands; it's also about tighter skin, fuller cheeks, and filters that have spilled into real life. Anti-ageing treatments are not just for the older crowd anymore. Young people, driven by social media trends in the pursuit of 'flawless' skin, are walking into clinics hoping to press pause on time.

The tragic news of actor Shefali Jariwala's sudden demise, linked to anti-ageing medicines and treatments, has also stirred public concern. "While most cases are safe, some treatments, especially injectable treatments, can have rare but serious side effects if not done properly. For example, if a filler blocks a blood vessel, it can lead to complications like necrosis of skin. So, it's important to go to someone experienced," says Dr Divya Sidhavaram, a senior dermatologist.



"Anti-ageing treatments delay or reduce visible signs of ageing like wrinkles, pigmentation and volume loss," explains Dr K Kranthi Varma, a consultant dermatologist. "Botox, fillers, lasers, High-Intensity Focused Ultrasound (HIFU) are most common and medically approved options people opt for," he adds.

Both doctors stress that while the treatments are generally safe, the real risk lies in where and by whom they are done. "Yes, they are usually safe when done by trained doctors. But if done by unqualified people or at shady clinics, they can go wrong. Risks include infections, swelling, rashes, or even serious issues like skin damage or nerve problems," says Sidhavaram. Dr Varma echoes this concern stating, "There is risk involved with unqualified practitioners. Clinics run by board-certified dermatologists are safe."

According to Dr Sidhavaram, warning signs after a procedure that one shouldn't ignore and seek medical help for immediately are severe pain, unusual swelling, skin turning dark or blue, any oozing, faintness or dizziness.

While there are pros such as minimal invasiveness, better appearance, and increased self-confidence, the cons are evidently aplenty. Dr Varma states, "People with unrealistic expectations, active infections, and pregnant or breastfeeding women should not get anti-ageing treatments."

For those looking for a safer, non-invasive options, he recommends energy-based treatments or lifestyle changes. "These include protecting your skin from the sun, using gentle skincare products, and maintaining a healthy diet. Non-invasive treatments like facial massage, microcurrent therapy, or LED light therapy may also be options."

But perhaps the biggest concern is the lack of awareness. "Many young people don't know the risks. They follow trends on social media and rush into treatments without proper knowledge. People need to understand the benefits and the possible side effects before making a decision," says Dr Sidhavaram.

Dr Varma explains why people today are turning to such treatments at a young age: "Several factors like social media influence, increased accessibility, changing attitudes towards ageing, preventive approaches, self-care and self-improvement."

In a world that glorifies flawless skin, the pressure can feel overwhelming. Maybe the real glow-up isn't just about reversing age but about understanding what you're signing up for, asking better questions, and realising that sometimes, confidence looks like accepting your skin exactly where it is.

WHY AWARENESS & EARLY DETECTION OF SCOLIOSIS MATTER

Here's how to keep Scoliosis away from affecting your life

DR RANJITH UNNIKRISHNAN

SCOLIOSIS, a medical condition characterised by an abnormal lateral curvature of the spine, affects lakhs of individuals worldwide. While it can develop at any age, it is commonly diagnosed during adolescence. Despite this, scoliosis remains a condition that many are unaware of, often leading to delayed diagnosis and treatment.

What is scoliosis?

Scoliosis involves a sideways curvature of the spine, which can be shaped like a 'C' or an 'S'. The severity of the curvature can vary from person to person. In mild cases, it may cause little to no discomfort, but in severe cases, it can lead to pain, physical deformity, and even respiratory issues.

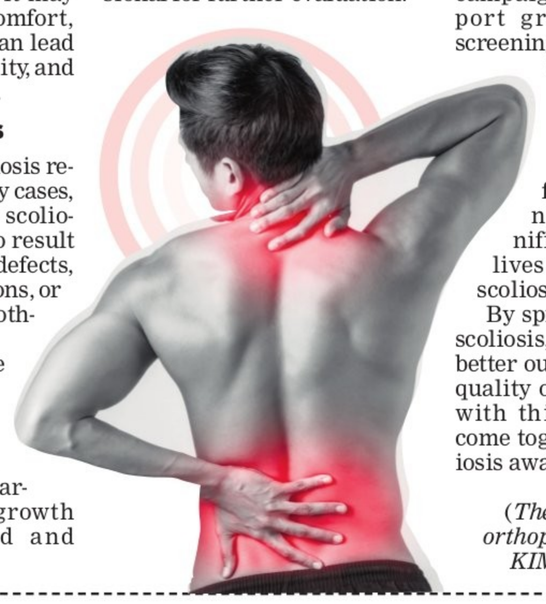
Causes and risk factors

The exact cause of scoliosis remains unknown in many cases, classified as idiopathic scoliosis. However, it can also result from congenital spine defects, neuromuscular conditions, or as a secondary effect of other medical issues.

Certain factors like genetics, as it often runs in families. can increase the risk of developing scoliosis. Early detection is crucial, particularly during the growth spurts of childhood and adolescence.

Signs and symptoms

Parents and educators should be vigilant for signs of scoliosis in children. Common indicators include uneven shoulders, a visible curve in the spine, uneven waist or hips, and leaning to one side. If these symptoms are noticed, it is essential to consult a healthcare professional for further evaluation.



Diagnosis and treatment

Diagnosing scoliosis typically involves a physical examination and imaging tests like X-rays. Early detection allows for a broader range of treatment options, including observation, bracing, and in some cases, surgery. Treatment decisions are made based on the severity and the potential impact on the individual's quality of life.

Raising awareness

Increasing awareness about scoliosis is the key. Educational campaigns, community support groups, and regular screenings in schools can help ensure that individuals receive the care they need.

Support from healthcare providers, families, and communities can make a significant difference in the lives of those affected by scoliosis.

By spreading awareness of scoliosis, we can work towards better outcomes and improved quality of life for those living with this condition. Let us come together to support scoliosis awareness and research.

SRINI'S BIRBAL 2, BACKED BY KVN PRODUCTIONS, TO GO ON FLOORS

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Srini, known for his action-thriller Ghost starring Shivarajkumar, is all set to revive his detective drama with Birbal 2. Sources reveal that the sequel has officially kicked off, with the high-profile KVN Productions backing the project. Venkat K Narayana is already backing KD, starring Dhruva Sarja, and the much-anticipated Jana Nayagan with Tamil superstar Vijay.

The detective thriller returns with a multiverse twist, supported by a major production house

Though the project details have been kept under wraps, Cinema Express has learnt that Birbal 2 quietly commenced with a formal muhurath, and shooting is expected to begin later this week.

Srini had previously teased fans by subtly incorporating the Birbal character into Ghost, sparking buzz about a potential crossover. This has now materialised into what could be a unique Ghost-Birbal multiverse, adding a fresh dimension to the upcoming sequel.

The original Birbal: Case 1 – Finding Vajramuni, released in 2019, marked the debut of Rukmini Vasanth, who has since gained critical acclaim for her performances in Sapta Sagaradaache Ello and Bagheera, among other films. However, it is understood that Rukmini will not be returning for the sequel, and Srini is on the lookout for a new female lead.

Further details about the cast and crew are being kept confidential for now. An official announcement is expected soon from Srini and KVN Productions.

'Writing felt limiting, so I chose direction to tell my stories'

CE FEATURES

Debutant director Rakshit Kumar blends personal memories, regional landscapes, and social commentary in Jungle Mangal, a film where comedy meets thriller deep in the Western Ghats

FOR Rakshit Kumar, storytelling runs in his blood. His grandfather was a Yakshagana artist, and Rakshit grew up listening to his stories. "Those stories sparked something in me, and I always wanted to tell stories. But as a writer, I feared my reach would be limited. Filmmaking felt like a way to connect with more people, and that thought lead me to take the director's path," says the debutant ahead of his film Jungle Mangal's release on June 4.

Though Jungle Mangal marks his directorial debut, Rakshit spent over a decade learning the craft. Originally from Puttur and with a Tulu-speaking background, he worked as an assistant and associate on several Kannada films before finding his own voice. He credits the late novelist and writer Poornachandra Tejaswi as a major influence: "His descriptions of nature and his unique narrative style stayed with me. I wanted to bring that depth and rootedness into my film."

Set in a village where Malnad meets Karavali, Jungle Mangal begins as a light-hearted comedy and gradually shifts into a thriller. "It's about a boy and a girl who are caught by onlookers in a private moment in the forest. This happens often in real life, but cinema rarely talks about it. I wanted to explore that discomfort, judgment, and curiosity." The lead is played by Yash Shetty, widely known for antagonist roles. But here, he takes on a softer, more nuanced character. "Yash and I have been friends and roommates for ten years. I've seen his range, and I was tired of seeing him stuck in the same kind of role. This film shows him in a different light," Rakshit says.

Harshitha Ramachandra plays the female lead, and the film also stars Ugramm Manju, Deepak Rai Panaje, Bala Rajawadi, and Chandrahas Ullal. Some villagers from the Kukke Subramanya region, where the film was shot, also appear in supporting roles.

The film's cinematography is handled by Vishnu Prasad, with music by Prasad K Shetty and Poornachandra Tejaswi. "It's a mix of real incidents and cinematic liberty. But at its heart, it's a story born from the land and people I grew up with," he signs off.

Ganesh turns Django Krishnamurthy in Arasu Anthare's next

CE FEATURES

ACTOR Ganesh, who has been working selectively on projects, has now teamed up with lyricist-turned-director Arasu Anthare for a unique collaboration. The upcoming film, titled Django Krishnamurthy, marks their first venture together. The project is being produced by SC Ravi Bhadravathi under the banner of SNT Enterprises.

The makers recently completed the first shooting schedule, and they unveiled the film's title on Wednesday, Ganesh's birthday. Speaking about the title, director Arasu Anthare said, "He leads an unusual lifestyle and thinks differently—it's been that way since birth. 'Django' was a nickname we used among friends for someone who acted out of the ordinary. The same holds true for the character played by Ganesh."

The quirky title has already sparked interest among cinema enthusiasts alike. The first phase of filming, held in Bengaluru, has been successfully wrapped up, and preparations for the second schedule are currently underway.

Starring opposite Ganesh is actor Amritha Aiyer, best known for her performance in the film HanuMan. The supporting cast includes seasoned actors such as Rangayana Raghu, Ravishankar Gowda, Cockroach Sudhi, Arun Balaraj, and Om Prakash Rao, further enhancing the film's star appeal. Ramesh Indira is the latest to join the cast.

The film brings together an interesting technical crew. Anoop Seelin is composing the music, with Kraanthi Kumar and Shailesh Kumar joining director Arasu Anthare in penning the dialogues. Sugnan is handling the cinematography, while Akshay P Rao is in charge of editing. The film's visual aesthetics are being shaped by art director Hosamane Murthy.

Raaga duo Mithra and PC Shekar reunite for Mahaan

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR PC Shekar, who is helming Mahaan, produced by Prakash S Budur and starring Vijay Raghavendra in the lead role, has roped in noted actor Mithra for a prominent part in the film.

"After Raaga, I continued working with director PC Shekar. My performance in Raaga was appreciated widely, and now I'm playing a significant role in Mahaan as well. The moment he narrated the story, I liked it and immediately agreed to be a part of it. Producer Prakash Budur is backing a film with a strong and meaningful storyline, and Vijay Raghavendra is a phenomenal actor. It's a joy to share screen space with him," shares Mithra on his excitement of joining Shekar's film. "Mahaan has a socially relevant theme, and Shekar has put together a role that suits Vijay and other characters perfectly. My character travels alongside the protagonist throughout the film. I believe the audience will enjoy our on-screen chemistry."

PC Shekar says, "The combination of Mithra and me in Raaga was a hit and is still remembered. Since then, I haven't cast him in any of my films because I didn't want to offer him minor roles. Mithra won a State Award for Raaga, and he brought that character to life. While writing Mahaan, I felt he was the perfect fit for this role. It's a strong character that stays with the hero from beginning to end, like Krishna beside Arjuna in Kurukshetra. I believe audiences will truly appreciate Mithra in Mahaan."

A stark descent into pain, bogged down by its objectifying gaze

A SHARADHAA

SOMETHING is unsettling about Tapassi, and it's not just the dark themes. Directed by Spencer Mathew, this intense, female-centric drama attempts to peel back the layers of glamour in the modelling industry, exposing the disturbing truths that lie beneath. The film follows a young girl with aspirations of becoming a model and actor. And while it succeeds in revealing the grime beneath the glitter, it falters in making us truly connect with its titular character.

The story begins with Tapassi (Ammayra Goswami) confessing her past to Professor Ravish Vaidyanathan (Ravichandran), writing and narrating her life in retrospect. She enters the modelling world with dreams as grand as her determination, but her journey quickly spirals into a brutal descent. Alcohol, drugs, transactional sex, and emotional numbness take over. The film never glamorises her life; if anything, it strips it of allure. Yet, in doing so, it risks objectifying her pain rather than humanising it.

TAPASSI

Cast: Ammayra Goswami, V Ravichandran, Anusha Kini, and Sachin Wairal

Director: Spencer Mathew

This is where Tapassi stumbles most. Though it centres on a woman losing her agency, it often reduces her to an object, viewed primarily through the lens of men who use, manipulate, or later regret hurting her. She drinks, smokes, and sleeps with men, sometimes by choice, often not; however, the film rarely pauses to explore her inner life. Why does she keep falling into the same traps? What drives her, beyond the desire for fame? These questions are repeatedly raised but never thoroughly explored.

From the outset, Tapassi is caught between external pressure and inner confusion. Her entanglement with a conflicted pimp sets the tone—he's both her abuser and someone who shows a warped sense of guilt and possessiveness. The other male characters follow a similar pattern: selfish, opportunistic, and representative of a toxic, exploitative environment. Ironically, despite its focus on female disempowerment, Tapassi gives its protagonist little agency or voice. She repeats the same cycles of pain, walking into fire after fire, but the film keeps us at a distance. There's repetition without reflection or resolution.

When Tapassi eventually seeks help through two friends she meets during a film shoot, they take her to Professor Ravish. At this point, we expect an emotional shift, a turning point. However, these scenes feel rushed, as if the film is more interested in checking narrative boxes than offering real catharsis. The film continues to struggle with balancing its raw realism with emotional depth.

RATING 2.5/5

What's particularly frustrating is that Tapassi claims to tell her story, but gives her little narrative control. Her trauma is shown through raw, disturbing scenes, like waking up disoriented after a party, and a sudden, jarring gangrape scene forced in near the end. Yet, these moments are neither revisited nor given the gravity they demand, leaving them unprocessed and emotionally hollow. As a result, Tapassi comes across more as a symbol of suffering than a fully realised person. The camera lingers on her vulnerability, her breakdowns, her skin, her fragility, yet it avoids providing insight or growth.

Still, Ammayra Goswami brings quiet strength and emotional intensity to the role. Even when the script fails her, her body language, haunted eyes, and silences speak volumes. She attempts to inject soul into a character the screenplay often leaves empty. Ravichandran's Professor Ravish brings calm sincerity, but his role feels underdeveloped, appearing more as a narrative convenience than a transformative figure. The potential for a powerful connection between them is there, but the film never fully commits.

On a technical level, the film avoids glossy visuals, opting instead for a gritty style that suits the tone. However, the execution is inconsistent. Most notably, Tapassi's dialogue is delivered in Hindi but dubbed into Kannada in the background, creating a jarring mismatch between her voice and expressions. This disconnection breaks the emotional flow and raises questions about authenticity.

Thematically, Tapassi tries to address crucial issues, abuse, consent, exploitation, and the treatment of women in glamorous industries, but only scratches the surface. These topics are introduced but not explored. Even Tapassi's final attempt to reclaim her life feels hurried, robbing the story of emotional resolution.

Tapassi is a film with an important message, but its disjointed storytelling, emotional detachment, and the objectification of its lead character diminish its impact. It wants to confront difficult truths, but it doesn't give us the emotional language to understand or feel about her deeply. In the end, even the film's closing message, delivered through Ravichandran's character about the dangers of smoking and alcohol, falls on deaf ears.
